FOUND DEAD IN THE PARK.

Suicide of Joseph Renisch and His Pretty Sweetheart.

USED THE SAME WEAPON.

Lovers Go Into Tower Grove Park at Midnight and Deliberately Blew Out Their Brains.

Joseph Renisch and Cecelia Bolin, his pretty 16-year-old sweetheart, went into Tower Grove Park some time after midnight and in a lonely spot, in the dead of night they offered up their young lives on the altar of love.

Renisch was a pressman, recently employed in the Globe-Democrat office. A couple of months ago he got another young woman into trouble and was compelled to marry her. To rid himself of the burden of an unloved wife he had decided to go far away from St. Louis and when time enough had gone by to secure a divorce and marry Cecelia Bolin, the girl he loved. The thought of a long separation preyed on the minds of the young lovers until they grew melancholy and then so desperate that they resolved to die together rather than part.

So it was that the young man pawned his watch to procure enough money to buy a revolver and with the loaded weapon they sought the seclusion of Tower Grove Park, where the young girl first blew out her own brains and then her lover took the weapon from her, pressed the muzzle to his head and sent a bullet crashing through his skull.

They were found dead on the grass about 6:30 o'clock by Robert Schnitz, each with a bullet hole in the right temple.

Robert Schnitz was passing through Tower Grove Park on his way to business. He was making for the Lindell Railway depot on Magnolia avenue. As he reached the gate of the Park he noticed two figures lying on the grass.

One glance at the blood on their faces showed Schnitz that they were dead, and he hurried out of the park toward the residence of Henry Schnelle, the gate-keeper, who lives at 3862 Magnolia avenue. Schnelle was coming to work, and the excited man told him what he had seen.

Together they went back to where the bodies lay side by side in death. The man, or rather boy, for he was only 20 years old, held tightly clenched in his right hand the revolver which had done the deed. He lay on his left side, facing the girl. His eyes were opened, and they were fixed and staring at the dead figure of his sweetheart.

She lay with her eyes closed, upon her back, her arms folded across her bosom, her body in absolute repose. But for the wound in her right temple one would have thought that she was only sleeping. She looked so young and innocent, and on her pretty mouth there were traces of a smile. She was clad in a green silk skirt waist, blue skirt and tan shoes. Her hat and his lay on the bench just a few yards away.

The scene of the suicide was as pretty a spot as the park could boast of. It was scarcely more than 100 feet from the entrance. There is a clump of sweet smelling pines and the grass is green all about. It was in this clump of evergreens, hiding them away from passers-by on the street, that the lovers chose ot die in.

Now the green grass is all stained with blood and the hose of the gate keeper is running constantly to wash it green again.

The two men gazed on the bodies in silence for a moment and the nthey looked about them. On the grass by the side of the girl they found a little sheet of paper. It was a leaf torr from a note book. Picking it up they read these words:

"Good bye all. I used it for myself and he used it for himself."

It was unsigned, but in the girl's handwriting. It told this much of the story. There had been no murder. She had taken her life and he his. She had written those words as the last message to the world, so that every one might know no murder had been done. Then she shot herself, with her lover looking on, and he, taking the revolver from her dead hand, put an end to his own existence.

Word was sent by Schnelle to the Tower Grove Station and an unknown man, who had been riding in the park on horseback, galloped to a telephone and informed the mounted police, in whose district the deed was committed. Officers came from both places and secured the details and notified the city undertaker, who came for the bodies and removed them to the Morgue.

Here the father of the girl, Joseph Bolin, came about 10 o'clock, and identified her and her companion.

According to a statement made by him, Renisch is a married man. He said that Renisch betrayed a girl who lives in his (Bolin's) neighborhood and that about two months ago he was forced to marry her. Prior to that time Renisch and his daughter had kept company, but as soon as he learned of the disgrace Renisch brought on himself he forbade his daughter to have anything to do with him.

Mr. Bolin said his daughter left home about 3 o'clock Wednesday afternoon, telling her mother that she was going to visit a Miss Susanka, a friend of hers who lives opposite Lafayette Park. She said she would return for supper. Nothing more was heard of her until the news came of her death.

The couple were ardent lovers, and from letters found on them it is evident that they had been meeting clandestinely after the father of the girl forbade Renisch to come and see her, but there is no suggestion of a marriage to any other girl.

Among the effects in the dead man's pockets was a pawn ticket for a silver watch on which he had raised $3 at Van Raalte's, Sept. 14. This was the day he was to have left, according to the girl's letters. There was also a photograph of the dead girl in his pocket.

The following letters were found in the pockets of Renish:

My Dearest Friend—I'll meet you this eve at 7 o'clock, as you wrote this morning. I just dread to think of it to-night, when I'll have to leave my only true friend, leave him for a certain time that will seem as if the time will never come when I shall look up into those dear eyes to me. Joe, really my heart beats very hard every time I think of you going to leave. I'll remain as true as ever and love you still better when you return, and I'll see you really kept your word and fulfilled your promise to me. You may be sure and certain that I'll also keep my word and promise. If we both do as we say our love will never be cut in two—never. I'll rather die than to let it turn out to be so, sweetheart. I couldn't disappoint you for anything in the world this eve, so be sure that I'll be there.

Joe, my darling, I ask another favor of you before you leave your home this eve. Don't you think it would be better for you to tell your mamma that you are going to leave and bid her good-bye. I know there is nobody got such feeling for you as a mother has for her child and she won't tell anything, for she knows it's for your future that you leaving. I doubt she will ask where you are going. You need not tell her. Please don't be angry for me writing this, but I know it would grieve your mother to think you left without a word.

If there is anything that I can do for you, sweetheart, I'll gladly do it, no matter what it may be. I'll be at usekey at 7 o'clock. I won't and can't disappoint you, my only, only love. In hopes for the future, I remain, your true love forever. CELIA.

Please do that favor for me and bid your mamma good-bye.

Sept. 10, 1895.

Dear Joe—As you are to leave Monday eve, you won't be here for my sixteenth birthday, but I know you'll think of me that day, 1st of Oct., Sweet sixteen, never got a kiss. That's very sad isn't it, Joe? Well, I hope to be kissed before and that will be a French kiss, won't it sweetheart, the eve before you leave. When I think of two years to come I feel happy, indeed, but if it was but one year I'd feel still better. It's better to wait them two years than to make a great disturbance in both families; isn't that right, sweetheart? In those two long years we'll both learn a great many things and then we won't bother nobody. We'll live all to ourselves, as you wrote this morning, Joe, my sweetheart, I repeat once more the promises I have faithfully promised you last night. I'll never make up with another man and I'll never go out with any while your absent, but I'll always be true to my only friend and love—Joe Renish.

I'll patiently wait for the day you'll come up along Soulard street, a singing and as happy as a free bird, and I'll see that you leave happier than you come. Papa was in when I got home last night, but he didn't say a word. Joe, how can you let that enter your mind? You know I have promised you I wounndn't speak to Jack nor Vick, for I know they're both dangerous and revengeful. There is nobody that will know where you are. They'll know you're gone, but they'll never find out where to. Even mamma won't get to know it. Maybe Kate will buy the stamp on the envelope, but otherwise nobody else besides myself. I just wonder what that surprise will be when you'll return, for you know I love you and always will love you and be true. I'll be very anxioms to read all those twenty-seven letters. It will take almost a day to read them, won't it, sweetheart? As soon as I'll get to know the day you're coming I'll let you know and let you taste the peach dumplings I can make. You'll be more than surprised. I'm going to see Kate to-morrow and I'll let you know what she said about seeing you and especially about the favor you're asking of her. She'll do anything that's in her power for you, she said so before already.

Joe: You can expect at least a tintype. I don't think my other pictures will be finished by Monday, but I'll send one to you later. I think it wouldn't do if you'd let me have that G——, would it? I'd keep it more safe than you; such a precious thing, look out. I hate to think of the time we shall part. I know it's not forever, but still it'll seem like it anyway. Once more I promise to stay your true love forever. In all hopes to see you soon, I remain your true love. CELIA.

I'll let you know by a note to-morrow when I'll go to see Kate.

Aug. 13—Sept. 13, 1895.

My Lover—I just hate to think of to-morrow evening. What shall I do to keep me from grieving. I know I'll be nearly the same way as I was at school, but as long as I'll think it's for our good that you're leaving I'll try to keep up, and if anybody asks where you're gone to I'll say any place your feet carry you. But if it's somebody from Vick's side I'll say you're gone West. Anybody it doesn't consider the least bit I'll say as I wrote above. I'll let you know every word Frank says to me about you. I'll act as if I'm ever so glad you left, although it will go against me, but I try anyway. Joe, you wrote you'll feel very unhappy when you leave me to-morrow, but I think I'll feel far worse, for you're the only one I love in this world. The people will enjoy seeing me. They'll say I got the looks after all, but I'll say that to them some day, won't I, sweetheart. You must keep your word and fulfill your promise, for I'll do anything for you, my love. I'll do my best to see you to-morrow eve and then tell you all I got to tell and promise you once more, my true love and heart. Don't forget to let me read that letter that you'll send A. Follman. Good-bye, sweetheart. Your true love, CELIA.

Tell you more. I'll try to see you to-morrow eve.

It is known that the double tragedy took place about 2 o'clock, as at that hour Mrs. Elisabeth Bahrmann, who lives near the park gate, at 4067 Magnolia avenue, heard two shots fired. Officer Cahill, on that beat, also heard two shots from this direction about the same time, but could not locate them in the darkness.

Renisch was arrested about five years ago for stealing $1,800 from a woman living at Eighth and Jules streets. He and some other boys got into the house while the woman was away. The money was returned and no prosecution followed, owing to the boys' youth.

The charge that Cecelia's father makes against Renisch as to his being married is true. Under strong pressure from his bride's mother, he married Victoria Thouvenal, who lived with her mother at 1720 South Tenth street. He met this girl two years ago at the wedding of his sister. She was one of the bridesmaids. They became engaged and Renisch furnished a little flat preparatory to their marriage. But they quarreled and there came an estrangement. Renisch finally refused to marry the girl, but he had already betrayed her and Mrs. Thouvenal forced him to it.

She had him arrested and pressed the prosecution so hard that he did not dare refuse, although at this time he was already in love with Cecelia Bolin. After the ceremony he left his wife and never saw her again, but continued seeking clandestine interviews with Cecelia.

Joseph Bolin is the organist at St. John's Catholic Church.

RAILWAY POSTAL CLERKS.

Convention of the Seventh Division at Kansas City.

KANSAS CITY, Mo., Sept. 26.—The railway postal clerks of the Seventh Division were called to order in convention here at 10 o'clock this morning by S. Z. Ettinger of St. Louis, President of this division. Delegates were present from St. Louis, Denver, Wichita, Fort Scott, St. Joseph, Sedalia and from the East. The convention gives promise of being one of the most important in the history of the order. The prime motive is to further the interests of the railway postal clerks through a reclassification bill, and an effort will be made to adopt a bill that will be acceptable to the heads of the railway postal service. The work this forenoon was routine in nature.

BACK TO DENVER.

E. Erwin Clarke, the Diamond Swindler, Caught in San Francisco.

DENVER, Colo., Sept. 25.—E. Erwin Clarke, a diamond broker who disappeared from this city July 25 with several thousand dollars worth of diamonds entrusted to him for sale, has been arrested at San Francisco and will be brought back to Denver. He was traced by means of letters mailed to him from Louisville by his wife.

ANOTHER LIFE SAVED.

Three-Year-Old Child Safely Picked Up by a Street Car Fender.

The street car fender has saved another life.

The 3-year-old daughter of Joseph Abele, of 2009 Cherokee street, ran directly in front of car 227 of the Cherokee and Grand avenue division of the Union Depot line Wednesday evening, in front of the Abele residence. The motorman had no time to stop his car. The fender worked admirably and the child escaped with trifling flesh wounds about the head and face.

HARRISON SAID TO BE OUT OF IT.

Reported Withdrawal From the Race for President.

IN FAVOR OF M'KINLEY.

The Ex-President's Personal Representative in Conference With Foraker in New York.

NEW YORK, Sept. 26.—The Herald says: It is said upon the authority of a Republican leader of national repute that Benjamin Harrison has withdrawn from the Presidential race and has named Wm. McKinley as his residuary legatee.

More than the semblance of truth is given to this report, owing to the fact that Chas. W. Fairchild, Mr. Harrison's personal representative and the leading candidate for United States Senator Voorhees' place, is in conference with ex-Governor Foraker, who is supposed to be here in the interests of McKinley.

TO BEAT HARDIN.

A Proclamation Exposing the Administration's Plans in Kentucky.

LOUISVILLE, Ky., Sept. 26.—That the administration forces mean to defeat Hardin for Governor, if they can, there is now no room to doubt. The following open letter written by J. M. Atherton, an administration Democrat and a member of the Comtee on Resolutions of the convention which nominated Hardin, makes plain the plan of battle adopted by the gold men to beat Hardin and elect Bradley, the Republican nominee:

To the Hon. P. W. Hardin: Dear Sir—In your Auditorium speech of August 19, you used the following words:

"Yes, I stand on the platform; stand on it with both feet, and in the name of a true Democracy and a common country call on Buckner and Blackburn, Brown and McCreary, Rhea and Atherton, Ellis and Weissinger and the Democratic press of the State to stand on it with me, with guns shotted for the common enemy."

Having received from you this public call, I trust you will not regard a public response as offensive or impertinent. I beg to assure you of my kind personal feeling for you, which I know you will not doubt or question. On the other hand, I must tell you that I differ with you in toto on the money question. But this is not the only reason which compels me to inform you that, in this emergency, you call on me in vain. You call on me to support you; the Democratic Convention of our party, which nominated you, commands me to support its declaration of principles, its platform. You may feel it your duty to disobey the Convention and repudiate its platform, but I feel it my duty to obey the Convention and stand by its platform. You may put the candidate before the platform, but I put the platform before the candidate. You may hold that Democrats owe a higher allegiance to men than to principles, but I hold that Democrats owe a higher allegiance to principles than to men. It is not possible to support the candidate and the platform, unless the candidate stands on the platform. * * * Any Democrat has the right to advocate the adoption of a free silver resolution by the next National Convention, but in the meantime no Democrat can consistently contend that the Convention of 1892 declared for free silver. * * *

Did the June Convention adopt a free silver resolution? Did not the free silver Democrats abandon all efforts to pass such a resolution? No such resolution was offered in the Convention. No such resolution was offered in the Committee on Resolutions. Standing on the national platform of 1892, the Convention indorsed the National Democratic Administration. And to emphasize this indorsement the Convention went still further and indorsed by name Cleveland as President and Carlisle as Secretary.

The free silver Democrats resisted the indorsement of the National Democratic Administration and of Cleveland and Carlisle. Abandoning free silver in the Convention, they concentrated their forces against the Democratic President and against the Democratic Secretary of the Treasury. They were beaten by a vote of 634 to 223. They accepted their defeat at the time in good faith and are as solemnly bound by the result as their nominees.

Your failure to defend your convictions by declining the nomination on a platform you cannot conscientiously support, forces me to defend my convictions by declining to vote for you. Your course has left the sound money Democrats no other alternative. No one doubts your faith in free silver, certainly I do not. I believe you are standing on your convictions. Why shall not sound money Democrats stand on their convictions? Your convictions were not the conclusions of the Convention, and you refused, and now refuse, to accept the judgment of the Convention, not as expressing your convictions, but as your rule of action in this canvass.

I stand by my convictions and by the platform. If I vote for you I surrender both my convictions and the platform. I will surrender neither—not for a crown would I surrender either. I would not ask or advise any Democrat to do what my own convictions forbade me to do. This conclusion may not be in line with modern politics, but it must be adopted by the majority of our voters if the principles of our party are to be defended and maintained. If the nominees of the June convention are not bound by the platform, what is to bind future nominees? Who will be expected or required to obey the instructions of the next convention? If sound money Democrats accept the premature and hasty conclusions that free silver is already beaten they prepare for their own defeat. Free silver is not dead. It is a dangerous, and may be a fatal delusion to see in a neglected and dishonored platform future political power that will exist in the election and administration of a Governor of the State.

The country is feeling its way slowly and nervously toward an improved condition of trade. Distrust and doubt still befog the way. Confidence is far from secure. It is my purpose, as I feel it my duty, to aid in the restoration of confidence. A safe and permanent currency system is essential to this restoration. I can not consent to cast my vote to invite a return of the panic of 1893. The surest remedies for hard times are honest laws, honestly administered; honest money and honest politics.

(Signed) J. M. ATHERTON.

THEIR THIRD RACE.

Spruce IV. Leads the Ethelwyan on First Leg of Course.

OYSTER BAY, L. I., Sept. 26.—The prospects for a race to-day between the half-raters, Spruce IV., of England, the challenger for the Seawanhaka cup, and Ethelwynn, the defender, were first rate this morning. There was a fine breeze blowing from the southward. This is the third race of the match between the rivals, each having won one.

The course to-day is to windward or leeward, three miles and return with a repeat of the two legs, making a full course of 12 miles. The yachts started at 12:20. Ethelwynn led shortly after the start, but at 13:45 Spruce was two lengths ahead.

TERROR-STRICKEN.

Flying for Their Lives Before Canadian Forest Fires.

MONTREAL, Quebec, Sept. 26.—The big forest fire that has been raging for the last two days in the forests of the county of Athabasca has destroyed hundreds of farm houses. The village of Brawits Mills is wiped out and not a building remains.

Even the cattle were burned in the fields. The inhabitants fled terror-stricken and barely escaped with their lives. Hundreds of families became separated in the flight.

Most of the country from Brawits Mills to Ashton is a charred and blackened waste. The fire is eating its way still further into the interior and the sky is obscured by dense smoke. Forestdale and Moose Park, on Mitchell's road, escaped the fire entirely, but along the Athabasca branch of the Grand Trunk the destitution is pitiable.

MR. PARKER'S APPOINTMENT.

Made General Attorney of the 'Frisco to Succeed Mr. Kenna.

General Manager Morrill of the Frisco has announced the appointment of Luman F. Parker as general attorney of the St. Louis & San Francisco railway, to succeed Mr. Edward Kenna, who was yesterday elected general solicitor of the Atchison, Topeka & Santa Fe Railroad by the unanimous vote of the directors in special session.

Luman F. Parker was born in the Catskill Mountains, New York State, on Sept. 26, 1847. He was educated in Connecticut. In 1868 he came West and settled in Missouri. For several years he taught school, during which time he studied law. He was admitted to the bar in 1873, and began practice at Rolla, the county seat of Phelps County. Mr. Parker soon sprang into prominence in the judicial circuits of Southwest Missouri, where he became widely known as a successful practitioner. He was also prominent in politics as a member of the Republican party. Once he was the candidate of his party for Congress, but was defeated by "Silver Dick" Bland. When Benjamin Harrison was elected President Mr. Parker was appointed assistant to the Attorney-General at Washington.

In 1889 he resigned this position to accept that of assistant attorney of the St. Louis & San Francisco, having previously attended to considerable local business for the road. This position he held until Mr. Kenna's promotion left vacant that of general attorney. During the six years he has been assistant attorney Mr. Parker has made an enviable record, having accomplished the work usually done by two men. He is an indefatigable worker, as well as a man of unusual legal ability, and his appointment as general attorney was regarded as a matter of course.

Soon after coming to Missouri Mr. Parker married a daughter of Col. A. W. Maupin of Union, by whom he has three children. Until he was appointed assistant attorney of the Frisco he lived at Rolla, but moved immediately to this city. He now resides with his family at 4358 Morgan street.

LOCAL READINGS.

Immense Meteor.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

MALVERN, Ark., Sept. 26.—Between 9 and 10 o'clock last night a meteor of immense proportions passed over this city, travelling from southwest to northwest, brilliantly illuminating the city for three minutes.

FLAMES ON UPPER FLOORS.

Fire in the Chamber of Commerce at Minneapolis.

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn., Sept. 26.—The Chamber of Commerce took fire early this morning, and for a time seemed doomed.

The fire was brought under control by 9 o'clock and the actual damage confined to the upper floors, although the entire building was drenched. The Chamber of Commerce was a handsome five-story stone structure at Third street and Fourth avenue, south, two blocks from the milling district. It was erected in 1884 at a cost of $180,000. It is the center of the grain trade, the Corn Exchange and Flour Exchange occuppying adjacent corners. The Chamber has 650 members. The building has long been too small for the business, and the opportunity will now be embraced to rebuild and enlarge.

DUNRAVEN'S OBJECT.

Valkyrie Will Be Kept Here to Meet Defender.

NEW YORK, Sept. 26.—Lord Dunraven's object in having the Valkyrie III. spend the winter on this side of the Atlantic is to have her race again, and incidentally, it is said, to silence those of his critics who have asserted that he was afraid to have his yacht meet Defender again. The fact that the Valkyrie is to race here next year, if opportunity offers, was made public to-day by H. Maitland Kersey, who has acted as Lord Dunraven's spokesman.

"There has been a great deal of talk about special races between the two vessels," he said, "and if any body wants Valkyrie to race, she will be on hand; if Defender goes to the Mediteranean Valkyrie will go there also."

WHERE BLAND STANDS.

The Silver Leader Explains His Words Spoken at Laclede.

Special to The Post-Dispatch.

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo., Sept. 26.—Gov. Stone has received the following letter from Hon. R. P. Bland:

LEBANON, Mo., Sept. 22, 1895.—Hon. W. J. Stone, Jefferson City, Mo.: Friend Stone—Yours of the 16th inst., would have received an earlier reply but I have just returned home from a ten-days' tour. Since my speech at Laclede I have traveled into Kansas, Oklahoma and other places, where I have spoken in behalf of the free coinage of silver. I have had but little opportunity to read the papers. Your letter is the first information I have received to the effect that I am reported in the papers as saying in my Laclede speech "that the time had come for breaking up party lines, and that hereafter the people would not, and should not cling to party organization, but would fight for what they deemed right, etc." This is a misunderstanding or a misconstruction of what I said on that occasion. I stated at that time, and as I thought distinctly and deliberately, "that the day had gone by when the people of this country could be relied on to support party labels or names, that political parties must have wall defined and definite principles etc."

I write to say now, as I have so often said before, that my place to fight is in the Democratic party. It is the party of the people. The masses of the people are all right. They are Democrats from instinct and principle. There is an element trying to control the party in the interest of plutocracy. There can be no compromise or harmony between these two elements. There is now, and always will be, war and war to the knife, between Democracy and plutocracy. Yours truly, R. P. BLAND.

FINDING HENRY SPAHN'S BODY IN THE LAKE.

DROWNED IN TWO FEET OF WATER.

Old Henry Spahn Strangles to Death in Benton Park Lake.

SUFFERING FROM ASTHMA.

So Sick He Couldn't Sleep and Got Up Early and Took His Life.

Henry Spahn, a very old man, who has been kept awake nights with asthma, took his life early this morning in Benton Park. He went about it so deliberately and so determinedly that he was dead before his purpose was discovered.

He got up early this morning, after a sleepless night, partly dressed himself, and with only his slippers on his feet, walked from his home on Ohio avenue to Benton Park at Jefferson avenue and Arsenal streets. There is a little lake in the park that is scarcely deep enough to drown a cat in. The old man made his way to the lake, took off his slippers and put them on a bench, removed his coat, folding it carefully, and placing it on the bench beside his slippers, and then he walked slowly down the bank of the lake and stepped into the water.

The water didn't reach much above his knees, and to drown himself he was compelled to lie flat on his back in the lake and let the water slowly strangle him. He did this, clinging to the stones on the bottom of the lake and holding himself under until consciousness left him.

Peter Von Ahmen, a private watchman, discovered the old man's body shortly after 7 o'clock. Calling to Policeman Stulte, they together went down to the lake, waded in and dragged out the body. There was no life in it. He had already been dead for several hours. The corpse was taken to the Morgue.

The old man lived with his son at 2221 Ohio avenue. He was 73 years old and a widower. The son says the old man has been suffering terribly from asthma for a long time and ever since the cool weather set in his affliction has tormented him so, and it became so difficult for him to breathe that he couldn't sleep and has been in the habit of getting up in the night and going out for long walks.

The son heard him get up about 1:30 o'clock this morning and heard him leave the house. He had no idea that his father had became so desperate that he had decided to kill himself. The son went to sleep and knew nothing of the suicide until the policeman came and told him the old man was dead.

The deceased left seven children, all of them grown. The son Henry, with whom he lived, keeps a barber shop at 2209½ Cherokee street.

CHOLERA.

Eighteen Deaths and Twenty-five New Cases at Tangier.

Special Cable to the Post-Dispatch.

(Copyright, 1895, by the Press Pub. Co.)

TANGIER, Morocco, Sept. 26.—There has been an alarming increase of cases of cholera. Eighteen deaths and twenty-five new cases were reported to-day.

LIFE AND TRAVEL ENDANGERED.

Serious Effect on Christians of the Riots in China.

RT. REV. FR. GRAVES TALKS.

The United States Should Send People of Higher Rank to Make Investigation.

CHICAGO, Sept. 26.—The Rt. Rev. Fr. Graves, the Episcopal Bishop of China, reached Chicago to-day. He said that he was glad to see that Minister Denby had appointed a commission to investigate the late riots in China and that he had selected such good men as Commander Barber of the United States Navy, Sheridan T. Teed, United States Consul-General at Tien-Tsin, and the leader of the legation at Pekin.

"It is unfortunate that a commission of such men was not sent to Chen Tu before the crimes were committed, but even at this late day it will at least remind the mandarins that the Government of the United States is not entirely indifferent to the welfare of its citizens in China. There is no people more susceptible to the influence of rank than the Chinese and to send an acting vice-consul and a missionary to investigate the deeds of a viceroy was a good deal like sending a bo'sen to report upon the acts of an admiral. Commander Baber is a very good man and whatever he and his associates do will have a wholesome effect upon the foreigners as well as the Chinese."

"What has been the effect of the recent riots?"

"They have hindered and interrupted work everywhere. They have caused bad feeling between native Christians and the rest of the people. They have seriously impaired the sense of security that foreigners have heretofore felt in China, and made life and travel in the interior difficult and dangerous.

"Our Government must make China stand by her obligations or take matters into its own hands. I doubt if this is possible without the use of force. The President ought to insist upon the severe punishment of every official who was in anyway involved or in any measure responsible for the outrages and see that they are not rewarded afterward. The indemnity should be paid in full from the private funds of the viceroy and other officials who are responsible, and not by the central Government of Peking.

"Actual and not fictitious culprits should be punished. It is a common thing in China for men to sell their lives, and submit to the death penalty as substitute for some one who is able to pay them; and it is more common for officials to select for vicarious punishment friendless wretches who are lying in prison for others offenses."

"There seems to have been a good many riots lately."

"Yes. During the last year there have been more disturbances than usual. They resulted from the same causes as those that occurred in 1880 and 1891. They are spasmodic and epidemic. They usually begin in May and continue until October, because the people are easily reached and influenced during the summer season by mischief-making commissaries from the mandarins. In several of the riots strangers have appeared to incite the people to violence, and it is well known that they were employed and paid by prominent officials. In almost every case the riots can be traced directly to the officials, and when prompt action is not taken by a foreign Government similar outbreaks are sure to follow in other parts of the empire.

"I have not the slightest doubt that the failure of the British and American Governments to act promptly after the riots of Cheng-Tu was the cause of the massacre at Tien several weeks later. And I am sure that all the anti-foreign disturbances might have been entirely stopped years ago if our Government and the British Government had been firm and determined in their treatment of China."

"Has the control of the Government of Peking power to prevent these riots?"

"I think it has. If it will promptly and severely punish the officials who are responsible and make examples of them the disturbance will stop.

"In 1891, when I was living in Wu-Chang, we expected the missions to be attacked and destroyed. The day was set for the destruction of all foreign property and the expulsion of all foreign citizens from that place, and although the authorities were well aware of the plot, they took no steps to prevent it until the Captain of a British gunboat told the Viceroy that he should begin to shell the city when the first mission property was attacked and suggested that the Viceroy palace lay in the direct range of his guns. The Viceroy then took the hint and immediately stationed Chinese soldiers at the gate of every foreign dwelling and took all possible precaution to prevent a disturbance. Nothing occurred, although it was perfectly apparent that the Viceroy intended that the foreigners should be driven out and their property destroyed.

"I believe also," said Bishop Graves, "that the presence of the United States man-of-war Petrel at the city of Wuhu prevented a riot there last June. All the plans were laid for destroying the mission and other foreign property and driving the foreigners out as was done at Cheng-Tu, but when our little gunboat appeared the plot was abandoned."

Seeking Contracts in Japan.

NEW YORK, Sept. 26.—A special to the World from Tokio says: Agents of several American ship builders and steel and iron manufacturers are now in Japan seeking government contracts for naval construction and material. The Union works of San Francisco are represented dy Irving M. Scott; the Cramps by Gen. George B. Williams, the Bethel works by Captain E. L. Zailnski, the Carnegie works by Lieutenant-Colonel Hunsiker, the Whitneys of New York by A. R. Whitney, Jr., and the Electric Company of Schenectady by E. Thurnauer. But for reasons no one attempts to explain, the various agents are not welcomed as cordially as might have been expected, reports having been sent abroad that the prominent American houses have received invitations to visit Japan and bid on important works. So far is this from facts that the agents now on the scene are scarcely able to obtain official recognition.

Chinese Trade.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Sept. 26.—The Department of State is in receipt of a Report on the trade of China for 1894, as prepared by the Secretary of the British Legation at Pekin. The most remarkable feature of this trade for the year is found in the facts that, notwithstanding the Japanese war and many other untoward circumstances, good results were obtained and that a promising revival of commercial prosperity has set in. Both exports and imports show an advance and the customs revenue was increased by every division of trade with the one exception of Indian opium. The receipts from the exports exceeded the maximum collected during the most prosperous days of the leather trade.

In accounting for this condition the author of the report says no ports were blockaded during the war and the usual calamities of war were almost wholly absent. He therefore concludes that the revival was due to the inherent staunchness of the position.

DENIED BY DE KAY.

United States Consul-General Did Not Report the Stern Case.

BERLIN, Sept. 26.—Mr. Charles De Kay, the United States Consul General at Berlin, has authorized the Associated Press to say for him that a pretended interview with him which was published in newspapers of the United States last month, and in which he was made to say that he had made a report to the State Department at Washington upon the case of Mr. Louis Stern of New York, who, in July last, was sentenced to imprisonment and fine for insulting Baron Thuengen, assistant to the Royal Commissione of Baths and Associate Judge in Kissengen, was a pure falsification. Mr. De Kay said to the Associated Press representative to-day that he had never written to the State Department saying he would have acted as Mr. Stern did under similar circumstances, and that moreover he had never made any such statement to anybody, as to have done so would have been an act of gross discourtesy to his colleague, the United States Consul General at Frankfort, to whose division the whole of Bavaria belongs. For similar reasons Mr. De Kay added it was out of the question that he should have made any report upon the case to Washington.

ONE ARM LESS.

Yardmaster Parsons at Clinton Run Down by Cars.

Special to The Post-Dispatch.

CLINTON, Mo., Sept. 26.—E. O. Parsons, yardmaster, while attending to his duties in the yards of the M., K. & T. Railway at 8 o'clock this morning was run over by some loose cars, crushing his right arm at the elbow. Drs. Britts and Holcomb amputated the arm, and the patient was made as comfortable as possible.

EXPOSITION BUILDING ARCADE

Opening of Locust Street Recommended by Property Owners.

Property owners along Locust street, from Sixth to Jefferson avenue, are quietly preparing a bill to be presented to the Municipal Assembly, which will reconvene in October, for the opening of Locust street through the Exposition Building.

It is proposed to build an arcade running east and west through the structure. Instead of being a drawback to the building, the projectors claim it will be an attraction and in addition will yield a nice revenue. The plans provide for stores on either side, which will bring rental all the year around.

W. W. Culver of the Wrought Iron Range Co., Festus J. Wade of the Anderson-Wade Realty Co., the Century Building Co. and the St. Nicholas Hotel Co., among others, are interested in the movement.

The architect who designed the building after an examination of the plans announced that the change could be made without damaging the building, as far as its strength is concerned. A heavy steel frame will support the upper portion of the building. It was supposed at first that the arcade would interfere with the Grand Music Hall, but this is denied by a committee which is at work pushing the scheme.

It is understood that the matter will be submitted to the Exposition Management for their consideration at an early date. At present there seems to be no opposition to the movement. The projectors are hopeful or carrying it through. The expense of remodeling the structure and building the arch would be comparatively small.

Mr. Wade thinks it would revolutionize Locust street, and add to its conveniences as a retail business street.

Lindell Boulevard Sale.

Ellen J. McKee acquired two newly-erected houses on Lindell Boulevard Thursday for $55,550. The houses are on the north side of the street, between Sarah and Whittier streets, and were owned by William H. Miltenberger. Mr. Miltenberger took in part payment a lot fronting 308 feet on West Pine street, valued at $30,800. Mr. Miltenberger will improve the site with handsome dwellings.

Union Station Thoroughfare.

Joseph Whyte, the realty dealer, and member of the Commission which has in charge the assessing of damage for the proposed widening of Eighteenth street in the vicinity of the Union Station, report the work almost completed, but the figures are not as yet ready for publication. It is said that they are much higher than was estimated at the time the Municipal Assembly appointed the Commission. The report will be filed in the Circuit Court, and after passed upon there will go before the members of the House and Council.

DECLARATION OF PRINCIPLES

Read to the Convention by Chairman O'Neill Ryan of St. Louis.

CHICAGO, Ill., Sept. 26.—O'Neill Ryan of St. Louis was greeted with enthusiastic cheers when as Chairman of the Committee on Resolutions he stepped forward to read the platform proposed for the consideration of the convention. His powerful voice and the impressive silence of the delegates made a deep impression as he proceeded to read under the title of a "Declaration of Principles" the following:

The people of Ireland are a sovereign people. Ireland is by nature separate from every other country, and liberty is the birthright of her people. Ireland was known throughout Europe as a nation long before the dawn of Christianity and was the home of civilization while England was still barbarous.

It has become evident after many years of earnest endeavor to obtain a measure of independence from the English Government by peaceful agitation that appeals to reason, for justice are futile. It is left, therefore, for the men of the Irish race to proclaim again the truth recorded by all history that the liberties of a people and the independence of a nation cannot be achieved by debate, but it must be won upon the field of battle, and we declare our belief that the men of Ireland who are being driven into exile, or into graves of serfs in their native land, by English misgovernment are entitled by the laws of God and man to use every means in their power to drive from their country the tyrant and usurper, and we believe that Ireland has the right to make England's difficulty her opportunity and to use all possible means to create that difficulty.

In view of these facts, the members of this convention appeal with confidence to their American fellow citizens and all lovers of liberty to co-operate with them in aiding the people of Ireland in the achievement of the same measure of liberty enjoyed in these United States.

England's claim to authority in Ireland originated in force, and has been maintained by corruption and coercion. It has never ripened into a right to rule. The title by conquest has never been perfected, inasmuch as the Irish people have continuously by constitutional agitation or revolutionary movements resisted England's power and endeavored to destroy her unlawful supremacy.

Ireland is deprived of almost every civil right which the American people most dearly cherish. Unexempled cruelty and brutal vindictiveness have been the distinguishing features of English rule in Ireland. England has destroyed Ireland's industries and ruined her commerce; she has placed upon her statute books laws making it a crime to educate an Irish child; she burned Ireland's school houses and destroyed her churches; she has driven into exile or left to perish in her dungeons thousands of men whose only crime was love of Ireland.

Every measure for the last century looking toward legislative independence of the Irish people has either suffered defeat in the Commons or been arbitrarily rejected by the Lords. England has violated every treaty and broken every pledge, and with almost every year of the century she has imposed upon Ireland brutal laws of coercion and one of the most drastic character is now upon her statute books.

To the pleas of the people for justice and their prayers for mercy, England has responded with the scourge and scaffold, and yet to-day, Ireland enthralled, but not enslaved, crushed, but not conquered, is in spirit a nation.

Distinct from the "Declaration of Principles," Chairman Ryan submitted on behalf of the Resolution Committee three separate resolutions, as follows:

Resolved, That we earnestly protest against the continued incarceration in English prisons of Irish patriots. That we consider it inhuman and against the policy of civilized nations to keep in prison men who have acted only in the interest of their country and human liberty; and, that the release of these men is imperatively demanded, not only by the Irish people, but by civilization.

Resolved, That this convention expresses the hope that the people of Cuba, who are struggling for political independence and the establishment of a republic, will be successful, and that we extend to them our heartfelt sympathies.

Resolved, That this convention, recognizing the importance to the Irish nation of preserving the language, literature and music of the people, commends the work now being done by the Gaelic League and the National Literary Society in Ireland, and by the Gaelic societies of this country, and earnestly trusts our people will give them hearty co-operation and generous support.

ENGLISH RIDICULE.

London Newspapers Amused at the Irish Convention.

LONDON, Sept. 26.—The newspapers of London to-day profess to find in the proceedings of the Irish Nationalist Convention at Chicago material for amusement. The Globe this afternoon observes that Mr. Finerty and his colleagues deserve the thanks of the world for furnishing an entertaining farce.

In the course of an article on the convention the St. James Gazette uses the following language:

"There are none so valiant as the exiled Hibernian in the secure atmosphere of an American liquor saloon. There are none so ready as he to attack the Saxon when the Saxon cannot get at him, or so patriotic in raising other people's money for war."

PASSING COUNTERFEIT COIN.

Charge Against a Contractor at the Jeffersonville (Ind.) Prison.

JEFFERSONVILLE, Ind., Sept. 26.—Capt. Henry R. Patton, brother of Col. A. G. Patton, the hollow ware manufacturing company, contractors in the Columbus, O., and Jeffersonville Penitentiaries, respectively, was arrested at the prison here last night for having passed counterfeit coin.

Capt. Patton came to the prison four months ago from Minneapolis at the instance of his brother, Col. A. G. Patton, to take charge of the convicts engaged on the Patton hollow ware contract. He said that he had been made the victim of a job trumped up by the convicts, many of whom had a personal grudge against his brother, Col. Patton, because of strict discipline.

DEFAULTER TO LODGE AND FIRM.

Alfred B. Avery Robs His Employers and Secret Society.

SPENT IT ALL ON A WOMAN.

Dolly Wallace Arrested and Held for Future Developments in the Shortage Which Is Growing.

Alfred B. Avery, cashier for Messmore, Gannett & Co., commission merchants in the Chamber of Commerce, and Secretary of Mound City Council National Union, is a defaulter to each and his downfall is due to a woman. For three years Avery has been a trusted employe of the commission house. He was elected Secretary of Mound City Council one year ago at 5183 Minerva avenue, at the house of Mrs. Nathan Owen, he supported his aged mother comfortably and paid the expenses of his father, A. L. Avery, as a paralytic patient at the St. Louis Baptist Hospital. For the past three months he has been living at 2330 Franklin avenue with Dolly Wallace, a courtesan. They have been known to the neighbors as man and wife. The house was sumptuously furnished, and although a large one, its only occupants were Avery and the woman. The expense incident upon a fast life added to the support of Avery's aged parents is assigned as the cause of his crime.

The woman was arrested at the house Wednesday night, but Avery has so far succeeded in eluding the authorities. His mother, who is 88 years old, is completely prostrated. His father, a mere wreck of age, is in merciful ignorance of the son's disgrace.

Thursday Mr. Geo. D. Barnard, brother-in-law of Mr. Gannett, and the latter gentleman spent the entire morning in an effort to learn the exact amount of Avery's speculations. While they were at work representatives of Mound City Council, National Union, came in with Avery's books as secretary. To a Post-Dispatch reporter they stated that they had been unable to ascertain his shortage with the order. Avery had been dilatory in settling his accounts with the lodge, pleading illness, but Wednesday sent his check for $1,830, the month's dues. It was presented at the bank, disclosing but $300 to his credit there. According to the representatives of the lodge this is as far as their investigation has gone.

With the disclosure at the bank the lodge officers inquired for Avery at the office of Messmore, Gannett & Co. He had been absent since Monday at noon, pleading illness.

Investigation by Mr. Gannett shows that Avery filled out checks signed in blank by Mr. Gannett for convenience and cashed them, pocketing the proceeds, marking the check-book stubs void, as if drawn by mistake. This had been going on since Aug. 28 last.

Neighbors on Franklin avenue state that Avery and the Wallace woman have been having a high time. Several had decided to complain, when Wednesday's revelations came. They state that the Wallace woman was evidently "working" Avery, for men visited the house at all hours while Avery was away. Avery himself usually left the house by the rear entrance. The Wallace woman told a Post-Dispatch reporter Thursday that Avery was there for dinner Wednesday, and that she left him there at 2:30 o'clock to go down-town. When she returned at 6:15 he had disappeared.

Avery's aged mother has been in the habit of meeting him at the Baptist Hospital every Sunday and also visiting him at the office where he was employed. Not finding him there last week she called at the house on Franklin avenue and was received by the Wallace woman as the lady of the house with whom Avery was "boarding."

The Wallace woman insisted to the reporter that she herself had furnished the house in which they lived and that Avery merely paid the monthly bills, which were small. She stated that he was very close and spent very little. How he was reduced to the necessity of robbing his employes she said she could not imagine, he had told her he had been losing money on 'Change.

Avery is 33 years old and unmarried. His parents have one other child, a daughter, Mrs. John E. Gorse, whose husband was formerly a well-known newspaper man, now located in New York City.

At noon Messmore, Gannett & Co., having examined the cancelled checks which Avery had appropriated, announced that $7,000 was the total of his embezzlements from them.

POISONED MILK.

Unknown Miscreant Puts Paris Green in August Meyer's Pail.

A dastardly attempt to poison the family of August Meyer, 1100 Chouteau avenue, was discovered in time this morning to frustrate the plans of the fiendish perpetrator. When the family milk pail was brought in it was noticed that the fluid had a peculiar appearance. Mr. Meyer brought it at once to the south end branch of the Union Dairy, Eighteenth street and Park avenue, where it was examined and found to contain a large quantity of Paris green.

The poison was placed in the milk pail between the hours of 4 and 5 o'clock, but there is no clew to the perpetrators and Mr. Meyer does not know whom to suspect. The police will make a thorough investigation.

JIM'S QUARTERS.

The Champion in Training Will Be Treated Like a Prince.

Special to The Post-Dispatch.

SAN ANTONIO, Tex., Sept. 26.—The training quarters where Champion Jim Corbett will put in his last month's work in preparation for his battle with Fitzsimmons at Dallas Oct. 2 are beautifully situated in the suburbs. The commodious clubhouse of the San Antonio Jockey Club has been placed at his disposal, and he will find the track to be in fine condition for his road work.

A handball court is being erected near the house according to plans made by a New York architect and approved by the champion. The designer had no very great strain on his intellect, for the entire "shooting match" as Texas sports say, consists of four high wooden walls. Room will be provided for the party at the clubhouse.

The Russell cottage, which will be occupied as a residence by the champion, is a handsome place on Alamo Heights, a fashionable suburb four miles from town.

John L. Sullivan's Benefits.

Special to The Post-Dispatch.

NEW YORK, Sept. 26.—The first of a series of testimonials to the former champion, John L. Sullivan, which sporting men of the big cities are arranging, will take place at the Grand Opera-house, Philadelphia, one week from to-night. The big fellow will box with Paddy Ryan or Joe Coburn. The affair is likely to be as great a success as the recent exhibition here, in which John L. was the beneficiary.

IS ENVELOPED IN DARKNESS.

That Kansas City Conference Is Being Kept Very Quiet.

INS AND OUTS ARE IGNORANT

No One Willing to Talk About the Meeting, Whether Friendly or Opposed to "De Ole Man."

Despite the fact that the call for a conference of anti-Filleyites at Kansas City Oct. 10 is the chief topic of discussion among local Republicans—always excepting the mayor's appointments—the affair seems to be enveloped in something of a mystery. Of all those who have talked about it with Post-Dispatch representatives State Senator G. A. Wurdeman is the only one who acknowledges to have seen and read the call. The senator on Wednesday reiterated his assertion quoted in the Sunday Post-Dispatch to the effect that it was by the merest accident of good luck that one of the invitations fell into his hands. It had been sent to a prominent and well known Republican leader of Franklin County who is not distinctly identified with either the Filley or anti-Filley faction, but who has perhaps co-operated with the Filleyites more than with the opposition and who did not, therefore, feel bound to say nothing about the matter.

The invitation which this man received, according to Senator Wundeman, was typewritten, simply recited the fact that a conference of Republican leaders would be held in Kansas City at the Midland Hotel Oct. 10, was signed E. L. Morse and dated Excelsior Springs. Now, it so happens that Col. Morse is known to frighten the children of his town to bed at night by warning them that if they do not get in the house and go to sleep Uncle Filley will catch them, and as soon as the Franklin County statesman saw the colonel's name at the bottom of the invitation he at once jumped to the conclusion that the enemies of "the ole man" were preparing to make a sort of midnight assault on his breastworks. To satisfy himself thoroughly on this point he laid it before Col. Wurdeman at the first opportunity, with the result stated.

Still, the very men here who are bitterest against Filley and are therefore naturally expected to have received invitations to the conference, persist in the most positive denial of all knowledge of such a movement and a great many of them profess to pooh-pooh it outright. Gen. John W. Noble, for instance, whenever asked about it invariably replies with a grunt and a smile that he is now practicing law and is paying no attention whatever to politics, but doesn't believe there is going to be any sort of Republican conference at Kansas City or elsewhere in Missouri, Oct. 10. Young Tom Niedringhaus, too, who, by hovering close around the throne of Mayor Walbridge, has excommunicated himself from the congregation that daily worships at the Beaumont street mosque, is also quoted by an intimate friend as expressing grave doubts about the matter. Mr. Niedringhaus has not, up to date, received one of Col. Morse's typewritten invitations, though of course he should now be on the list of the select.

As to Col. Dick Kerens, nobody seems to know where he is at present or what his intention are regarding the conference, though Senator Wurdeman, the argus-eyed, has also seen a letter recently which in any court would convict the National Committeeman of guilty knowledge of, if not of being particeps criminis in, the affair. This letter is in the well-known chirography of Col. Kerens, and in it he urges the recipient to drop everything on the evening of Oct. 9 and take a through train for Kansas City in order to be at the Midland Hotel early the next morning.

Meantime, while all these rumors and counter-rumors are flying through the air, your Uncle Filley sits in the mosque calm and taciturn as a Trappist monk. The click of his typewriter is heard through the second-story window from early morn till dewy eve and then late into the night. He not only declines to talk to anybody about the Kansas City conference, but also refuses to give reporters his eye wherever by chance they meet on his daily afternoon drive. The typewriter, of course, could tell a story, but the mighty boss puts it under lock and key whenever he departs from the mosque and leaves his faithful Senegambian Pidus Achates behind to guard the entrances to the edifice.

It is significant in this connection that "De Ole Man" is bestirring himself to give the widest possible circulation to the disclaimer recently made by his candidate for Governor, Benjamin Franklin Russell, regarding the Steeleville Statesman's attitude toward that office. Col. Russell denounces all such rumors as "a lot of rot from Jefferson City" and as "a lie out of whole cloth." Then the outraged Col. Russell, according to the printed circular which Uncle Filley is sending through the mails at regular first-class rates when he could save 1 cent on each envelope by taking advantage of printed circular rates, goes on to say in his own behalf:

"Several papers of the State, inspired by some evidently well-meaning but mistaken individual, are nominating the editor of this paper (the Steeleville Mirror) for Governor. This without any authority or any intention of the editor to ostrude a candidacy on the State convention. Would it not be good politics to let the State convention propose and dispose of all candidates for every office within its province considering every element and section of the State? That's our opinion. Let the party speak, and then every Republican can have a chance and the party merit and secure success."

Col. Nat. Frank is another of those densely ignorant on the Kansas City conference. Col. Frank doesn't talk about it much, as becomes a receptive candidate for the gubernatorial nomination of his party, but his quiet manner when the subject is mentioned in his presence leads his critics to believe that he is playing both ends against the middle, as the sporty gentlemen say. Maybe this will make him the much desired "logical candidate" when the time comes, but if either faction should rout the field horse, foot and dragoon, he might find himself entirely outside the breastworks. However, he is a very busy man and tells everybody that he cannot think of running for Governor next year. Still some of the psychologists claim to have diagnosed the workings of Col. Frank's mind and declare that when he talks this way he is using language as Talleyrand said it was intended to be used.

There was an important conjunction of Republican stars in a private dining room of the Planters' Hotel Tuesday night when Col. Charles D. Comfort, Col. William Tamblyn, Dr. Max Starkloff, Amadee Cole, George Wagner and Henry Beach sat down to dinner. The feed must have been an unusually good one or the sweet conversational dalliance which ensued after its close marvelously interesting, for the sextette remained in the dining room from 7 p. m. until almost midnight. Very few people know about it, and whenever information of it is given to anybody who is presumed to know what's what, the almost invariable comment is: "Well, Tamblyn, you know, is Comfort's candidate for Mayor, and I guess they got together to fix up things."

But if this is true, what was Dr. Starkloff doing there? As Health Officer he cannot afford to be mixing up in miscellaneous caucuses, having for their object the bringing out of a candidate for Mayor before the Hon. Cyrus P. Walbridge's desires are known. But if he was there with his chief's knowledge and consent, it would seem to indicate that Cyrus P. has really tired of the drudgery of the Mayoralty and is casting about for a successor. From this view of the case, then, taken in connection with Col. Comfort's former alleged relations to Col. Walbridge, the Mayoralty boom of Mr. Tamblyn, the erstwhile sweet singer and exquisite in dress but now one of the most democratic of men in appearance and manner, has been fairly launched and other brigs on the treacherous sea of municipal politics with sails set for the City Hall would better look out for collisions.

IS HERE WITH HIS KIDS.

Congressman-Elect Joel D. Hubbard Arrives in the City.

Hon. J. D. Hubbard, who was tobogganed into the Congressional seat so long occupied by "Silver Dick" Bland by the landslide of '94, arrived at the Laclede Thursday morning from his home at Versailles. On the hotel register this entry appears: "Joel D. Hubbard, wife and 2 kids." The "2 kids" are presumably the children of the Congressman-elect. Dr. Hubbard left the hotel soon after getting his family assigned to a room, and though the inquiries for him were numerous all the morning the clerks at the Laclede were unable to furnish any information as to his whereabouts. A gentleman who claims to know him said he saw Dr. Hubbard board a Union Station car at Sixth and Chestnut. That line goes very near to the residence of the Hon. Chauncey Ives Filley, as well as the gorgeous new railroad depot, and it was suggested that probably the Eighth District Congressman went out to pay his respects to "De Ole Man."

The call, of course, would have to be purely social, if it were made at as early an hour as intimated by the doctor's friends, since Uncle Filley has tacked a card on his front door in such position that he who runs may read, informing everybody that his office hours are "from 9 a. m. to 12 m. and from 7 p. m. to 9 p. m." If, therefore, Dr. Hubbard reached the mosque before 9 he would, under the rules, have to put in the time until that hour passing the compliments of the season with the sage, but he felt so inclined he could, presumably, between the hours of "9 a. m. and 12 m." discuss the extreme mutability of subluminary objects in general, with particular application to politics—mayhap the forthcoming conference of anti-Filleyites at Kansas City.

LOCAL BAPTIST ASSOCIATION.

Seventy-Sixth Annual Meeting at the Delmar Avenue Church.

The seventy-sixth annual meeting of the St. Louis Baptist Association began at 10 a. m. Thursday in the Delmar Avenue Church, Mr. J. W. Stewart, Moderator, calling the convention to order. Mr. A. W. Payne was made Clerk. Rev. G. J. Johnson offered prayer and then the hymn "All Hail the Power of Jesus' Name" was sung. Rev. Mr. Collins, City Missionary, conducted a thirty minutes' devotional service.

Rev. Elisha Anderson, pastor of Grand Avenue Church, preached the convention sermon. He took his text from the ninth and thirteenth verses, sixth chapter of Exodus, and spoke of sacrifices, their significance and history.

The report of the Board of Missions showed that the balance on hand Sept. 13, 1894, was $22.62. During the year ending Sept. 16, 1895, $5,633.40 was collected by the board, and of this sum all but $96.93 was distributed. The convention will continue Friday.

WATER AND SHIPS.

Considered by the Deep Water-Ways Convention at Cleveland.

CLEVELAND, O., Sept. 26.—The Committee on Nominations presented its recommendations at the opening of the morning session of the Deep Waterways Convention for the re-election of seventeen members of the Executive Board. The report was promptly adopted. The members of the new board will determine by lot what shall be the terms of the members, six of whom shall serve for one year, six for two years and six for three years. The eighteenth member will be chosen by the other members of the committee.

The first paper of the day was on "Domestic Ship Building," by Prof. George Tunell, of the Chicago University. It indicated careful research and thorough study on the part of the speaker, who took the position that American shipping will be revived when ships can be built in America as cheaply as in foreign lands.

A debate followed, Mr. Alex. R. Smith, of New York, disagreeing with Prof. Tunell as to the decline of American shipping. He ascribed the prosperity of foreign shipping to subsidies.

Mr. Chauncey M. Dutton, of Washington, and Mr. Gustave Lindell, of New York; Prof. Lewis M. Haupt, of Philadelphia; John C. Wright, of Rochester, and others discussed the various routes and plans proposed from Lake Erie to the ocean.

Mr. Thomas P. Roberts, of Pittsburg, read a paper on "Enlargement of the Erie Canal."

JOHN MITCHELL'S FEAR.

Water Works Basin Corpse May Have Been His Brother.

"Something tells me that the body found in the basin at the Water Works June 17 was that of my brother. I am afraid he was murdered, and the Post-Dispatch was right in advancing a murder theory at the time."

The speaker was John Mitchell of 2718 Rutger street, whose brother Michael disappeared about June 6.

The description of the corpse published in the Post-Dispatch tallies with that given by Mitchell of his missing brother. He will call upon Coroner Wait in an effort to find the clothes worn by the dead man, which he is positive he can identify if the deceased was his brother. But a few days before Michael Mitchell disappeared his clothes, shoes and hat were stolen. He was then working at "Barney's" restaurant at Ninth and Franklin avenue, rooming over the restaurant. "Barney" bought him a new outfit.

Mitchell was a stone cutter, but took work in the restaurant because he could not get work at his trade. He had trouble with a negro a few days before he disappeared, presumably over the theft of his clothes and John Mitchell thinks this trouble led to the murder of his brother somewhere in the city, and that the body was taken to the Water Works basin and thrown in.

There is a roadway on either side of the basin, and this method of disposing of the body would have been easy. Gate-keeper Langheuser discovered blood on the coping of the basin several days before the body was found and caused the basin to be dragged and afterwards drained in order to ascertain whether there was a corpse in the water.

Murder was suspected, but the basin was not fully drained and the body was not found. The basin was refilled, and two or three days later the body was found floating on the surface. Every indication pointed to its having lain the water ten days or more, and it certainly must have been in the basin when it was drained.

John Mitchell says he read the story of the finding of the body in the Post-Dispatch at the time and thought it might be his brother, but as the height given was 2 inches greater and his brother had only been missing ten or twelve days, he did not give it serious consideration, believing the missing man would turn up in a few days. The description of the clothes, particularly of the shoes, leads him to believe his brother was the victim. No trace of the missing man can be found, and if he were alive he would certainly have written. He is believed to have a wife living somewhere in the city and John Mitchell is now searching for her.

CANNOT KEEP TIME.

Lawyer Charles Davis Loses Clocks as Fast as He Gets Them.

Charles Davis, a lawyer occupying an office in the Union Trust building, has difficulty in keeping "time." During the past few weeks he has lost two valuable wall clocks, but through no fault of his own.

While he was out for a few moments Wednesday afternoon a time piece presented him by Capt. Henry Kaiser disappeared. An occupant in a neighboring office saw a strange man enter, and has furnished the police with his description. An effort will be made to locate him.

Mr. Glogan, agent for the building, says office building robberies are growing. The Equitable building management have adopted a system which is partially satisfactory. After 6 p. m. every one entering the building is requested to register and explain to the custodian the nature of his business. Of course, this system would not work satisfactorily during business hours.

Convict Sues for Property.

John Keith, Jr., sentenced to the penitentiary for twelve years for burglary, from Jackson county in 1888, sued in the St. Louis Circuit Court, Wednesday, for a partition of property at 2938 Morgan street. Margaret Ahern, John R. Ahern, John Keith, Sr., and the St. Louis Trust Company as trustees for John Keith, Jr., were named as defendants.

To-day five thousand housekeepers in St. Louis are using the Majestic steel range and proving its worth by every-day service.

Western Freight Committee.

The Western Trunk Lines Freight Committee held a meeting at the Southern Hotel Thursday with Freight Traffic Manager Bird, of the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul Railway, in the chair. The representatives of about twenty roads were present. The session was a long one and was executive in character. It is understood that the Western rate troubles were exhaustively discussed and a peace patched up.

COLBY IS DECIDED.

The Fire-Proofing of the City Hall Should Be Corrected.

If all the members of the Board of Public Improvements are like Sewer Commissioner Colby the Empire Fire-Proofing Co. will have to tear out every arch and tile which is not up to specifications, both as to material and workmanship.

Mr. Colby said: "I do not favor any compromise. The only way to do justice to other contractors who bid on the work is to insist on the work being according to specifications from start to finish. It is a bad precedent to accept such work, even if a deduction is made. If the specifications call for one-inch webb nothing less should be accepted, and if the arches call for eleven pieces they should contain them. It is estimated that a saving of $5,000 would be effected on the whole work, and if the other bidders contemplated being allowed this latitude they could have bid lower.

"In the sewer department every pipe is measured before it is even unloaded. If not up to specifications they are rejected on the spot. The tiles used in this fire-proofing job should never have been allowed to be dumped on the grounds. That is Mann's fault, but while it may appear to be an injustice to allow them to go on all this time and then make them tear down, they knew they were violating the contract, and legally the city has a right to insist on the work being done over again.

"As to the charge made that gauge mortar was used instead of cement mortar, I have suggested to Mr. Holman that it be subjected to chemical analysis to ascertain its component parts. I do not know what he intends to do."

WOULD FORM AN ALLIANCE.

Proposition for Contractors and Stonecutters to Join Hands.

At the meeting of Local Stone Cutters' Union Tuesday night a novel proposition was submitted by August Greitzmacher, a contractor, looking to the maintenance of the union scale of wages. The matter was taken under advisement.

Greitzmacher has a contract for $240,000 worth of work on the new Liggett & Myers buildings near Tower Grove, and has a force of about 20 stonemasons employed. He has been paying 35 cents an hour, or 10 cents an hour below the union scale. Thus on 10 hours work he saved $1 per man, or $20 a day on the force employed.

A strike was ordered and work on the building was stopped. After a conference with the union representatives the contractor agreed to advance the wages of his men to 45 cents an hour, pending an investigation and final settlement. He claimed that union men were working on jobs all over town for 35 cents per hour and that he could not compete with other contractors and pay the union scale. The matter was referred to the Local Union Tuesday night.

Greitzmacher came forward Tuesday night with a proposition that the union ally itself with several contractors he would name, all of whom are willing to pay the scale provided the union men will work for them and no one else. The proposition will be finally acted upon at the regular meeting, two weeks hence at Twenty-first and Franklin avenue.

American Protective Association.

The Advisory Board of the Supreme Council, American Protective Association, will convene in tenth annual session Tuesday, Oct. 15, at Druids' Hall, Ninth and Market streets. The session will be attended by 200 delegates representing all of the principal states of the country. The purpose of the meeting is the election of officers and the appointment of committees for the various states to take charge of the campaign work between now and the close of 1896. The editor of "The True American," a local organ of the A. P. A., claims that the order has 3,000,000 members in the country, of whom 60,000 are in St. Louis.

Catholic Young Man's Convention.

The delegates to the convention of the Catholic Young Men's National Union were given a carriage ride through the city parks Thursday morning. The convention adjourned Wednesday afternoon, and New York City was chosen as the place of the next convention. Officers elected were: President, Rev. M. A. Cunnion of New York; First Vice-President, Rev. G. M. Wilson of Terre Haute, Ind.; Second Vice-President, George F. Mulligan of St. Louis; Secretary and Treasurer, John Brady of Albany, N. Y.

Green's.

ST. LOUIS, Sept. 26, 1895.

Children's Hats.

If you think "just any kind of a hat will do for a child," you are very much mistaken.

A child's hat these days must be even more picturesque than that intended for the older sister.

Their development requires more taste and skill.

Each little face must be studied. We found that out long ago, and that is why we have always had the lead in children's hats.

We are receiving this week some beauties, which you should see. We can't describe them.

Broad Felt Hats, velvet trimmed or frilled with Val. lace, shirred brims and bell crowns, all of the newest effects, $1.98 and upwards.

School Caps.

We've also a beautiful line of serviceable Caps in cloth or plaid, or boucle effects, Tam O'Shanters and other styles, 48c up.

SIDEWALK CONSTRUCTION.

Rehearing of the Loevy Case May Benefit Property-Owners.

The re-hearing granted by the Court of Appeals in the case of the Heman Construction Company vs. H. A. Loevy may rescue property owners from the clutches of the annual contractor for sidewalk construction. As a result of the compulsory method of sidewalk construction, which prevents the making of private contracts, a great deal of bad work has been done, and in several instances when complaint has been filed with the Board of Public Improvement the contractor has been willing to compromise rather than fight.

In the Loevy case payment for the improvement of Morgan street between Newstead and Pendleton was resisted. The tax bills were held to be valid in the lower court and the judgment was affirmed on appeal. The re-opening of the case is on a plea that as the improvement of both roadway and sidewalks were authorized by the same ordinance, the Board of Public Improvements could not legally divide the work into two contracts, as was done, and in so doing the tax bills were invalidated.

If the court sustains this position it disposes of the idea that the annual contractor has a monopoly of sidewalk work at least so far as where a roadway and sidewalk are authorized by the same ordinance. President McMath thinks it may go further than that. The case of Mrs. Loring, in which payment is resisted of a sidewalk tax bills on several grounds, may also further dispose of the privileges enjoyed by the annual contractor.

Habeas Corpus for His Children.

James R. Hull applied for a writ of habeas corpus Wednesday for his children, Florence Frances, 5; William Albert, 4, and James Oscar, 3. He alleged that they were unlawfully withheld from him by the Children's Home Society of Missouri in its nursery at 1623 Olive street. The writ was made returnable Sept. 30 in Judge Wood's court. At the nursery it was said that the children had been committed by their mother, who is separated from her husband.

FREEDOM FROM FRECKLES, and from all such disfigurements and blemishes, follows the use of the Carlsbad Sprudel Salt. It clears and freshens the skin wonderfully—takes away that dull and mottled look that comes from stomach derangements. Besides being a purgative and an eliminative, the Sprudel is a decided alterative or blood-purifier. It is the prescribed remedy, even in chronic and stubborn cases of eczema and such disorders.

The blood, the liver, the stomach, the kidneys—all are put into a thoroughly healthy condition by the Sprudel Spring, and just as well here as if you were on the spot.

Remember that the only genuine imported Sprudel Water or Salt has the seal of the city of Carlsbad, and the signature of "EISNER & MENDELSON CO., Agts., New York," on every bottle.

SHOWING THE CLOVEN FOOT.

The bolt of the "sound money" Democrats of Kentucky has come to pass precisely as predicted by the Post-Dispatch. The letter of J. M. Atherton, a member of the State Committee, in which he declines to support Gen. Hardin, and the announcement that Congressman Berry will be a candidate for the Senate against Blackburn are proclamations of open revolt on the part of the Administration's followers.

While it was a foregone conclusion that the Kentucky gold standard Democrats would do all in their power to defeat free silver candidates, yet there can be no doubt that they hoped to accomplish this purpose by secret knifing instead of by an open bolt. The history of the campaign shows that they have been driven into showing their hand by the strength of the free silver men.

When Gen. Hardin refused to abase himself by forswearing his convictions at the bidding of the Federal office-holders' machine, and when Senator Blackburn took the stump with a bold announcement of his free silver sentiments, the "sound money" men laid back and tried by underhand methods to defeat them. They found, however, that they could not cope with the silver sentiment and the popularity of Hardin and Blackburn. They were driven from their ambush and the result is the attempt to defeat Blackburn by running an Administration dummy against him and to defeat Hardin by a campaign for Bradley.

The desperate nature of the battle waged in behalf of the gold standard may be judged from this Kentucky bolt. The "sound money" men are determined to control the party and the next national convention, and will stop at no means to win this end. As in Kentucky, so in every other State, they will sacrifice the party and the party's candidates for the mammon of plutocracy.

JUSTICE AND THE COAT.

Not content with his function of applying the law for the correction of morals and the protection of the community from the vicious, Judge Murphy has voluntarily added to his duties that of correcting the manners of citizens who are compelled to enter the precincts of his court and of establishing a code of court etiquette.

As the first step in this direction Judge Murphy has issued a decree or ukase—the exact term for the act in the Court of Criminal Correction is uncertain—to the effect that no man who enters his court in his shirt sleeves shall get justice. In pursuance of this decree he dismissed a case of larceny in which the prosecuting witness appeared without a coat and drove the witness in ignominy from the court. The reason of the rule is that proper respect to the court demands the wearing of a coat while in the court-room.

This ruling suggests grave questions of law, equity, etiquette and public polity. In order to sustain his decree Judge Murphy will clearly have to demonstrate that in law and equity the man who appears without a coat has no standing in court and that the prisoner accused by a coatless man is ipso facto entitled to immediate discharge. He will have to show that public policy is better served by dismissing a criminal than by having him convicted by a coatless witness or lawyer.

It is to be doubted that Judge Murphy can sustain his principal point that a coat is a badge of respect and that the dignity of the court demands that all who appear in its presence shall wear coats or be held in contempt. On the contrary, it can probably be shown from the practice of the courts of Missouri, from the highest to the lowest, that the coat is not a necessary adjunct of the administration of justice, and that coatless lawyers have made able arguments, coatless witnesses have given important testimony and even coatless judges with fans in their hands have delivered learned and binding decisions.

If a witness had no coat or if the prisoner had stolen his coat, would Judge Murphy hold that the accused should profit by the poverty of the witness or by his own crime? Would he hold that a coatless prisoner could not be tried, but must be discharged for lack of respect to the Judge?

It is a pity that the three C's Court is the court of last appeal within its jurisdiction. These grave questions should by all means be passed upon by the Supreme Court.

NEXT SUNDAY'S COLORED SUPPLEMENT.

The Colored Supplement of next Sunday's Post-Dispatch will be a brilliant rainbow of gaily-tinted illustrations, and its promise of a happy day of fun and humor will be more than fulfilled.

McDougall chaffs New Yorkers this time on the front page, showing how the yachting craze has set all New York daft and placed its entire population in nautical costume.

Another colored picture illustrates the varying artistic effects of the suns of July, August and September upon the skin of the summer bather.

In a third colored cartoon Outcault also takes the yachting fever and thrillingly depicts "The Great Cup Race on Reilly's Pond," with a crisis impending between "Capt. Half Hank" and "Doneraving."

Other original comic cuts, the best selected illustrations, reading matter brimming over with genuine fun, will also be found. Next Sunday's Colored Supplement will be a feature you can't afford to miss.

AS TO FENDERS.

Some of the street railway managers are still harping against fenders and are delaying putting them on their cars until the last day of grace.

One manager objects to the fender because it does not save everybody who gets in the way of the car. Another prefers a good, careful motorneer to any fender. Still another inveighs against fenders on account of the trouble and expense they cause the railway management.

The claim has never been made that fenders will prevent all accidents, but only that they will reduce accidents by a good percentage. If they save only a few people their use will be justified in the opinion of all except a manager who objects to taking trouble and expense to save life and limb. The claim will certainly not be made that some cheap-John fenders, a foot above the rails and with coupling bars sticking out beyond them, will prevent all accidents.

The fact that even the best fenders will not prevent all accidents is merely a strong argument in favor of additional precautions, such as the regulation of speed, the guarding of dangerous crossings, the stoppings at near crossings and the employment of careful and skillful motorneers and conductors.

Any manager who thinks good, careful motorneers a better safeguard than fenders has only to offer sufficient wages to secure none but the highest grade of motorneers. But meanwhile the people demand the legal enforcement of all other possible safeguards, including the fender, which has demonstrated its usefulness by saving three lives this month.

THE WESTERN STATES CONFERENCE.

On Oct. 1, at Topeka, Kan., a great conference is to be held. Delegations from ten Western States and Territories will be present, including Missouri, Arkansas and Texas. Several Governors, Members of Congress and other prominent men have notified their intention to be present, and St. Louis will be one of the fifty cities represented.

The object of this conference is twofold. It is to consider the feasibility of a great Western Exposition, designed to include the products of the West and South and those of Central and South America, as our nearest trade neighbors. This Exposition scheme includes a grand naval review in Galveston Bay, which would be a novel and unique display in connection with an American Exposition.

The other question the conference will consider is the possibility of affording relief to the Western States from the ruinous freight charges in marketing their crops, by opening up a water route to Europe via the Mississippi and the Gulf of Mexico. It is understood that the conference will give especial consideration to the problem of an outlet to the sea for Western and Southern products. Galveston claims that the problem of deep water is already solved in its fine harbor, on which the Federal Government has expended so much money and labor. But the conference is not designed to promote the interests of any harbor or section, but to look for the best short cut to deep water for the farm and other products of the interior States and Territories.

This conference may be the means of almost revolutionizing Western and Southern transportation to Europe, with the consequent growth of an immense and prosperous trade. It is gratifying to know that it will be well attended. Those who go there should make up their minds to do the best that is in them for the sake of the West and South. The time is opportune and the need great.

Atherton, the man who has issued a "ringing declaration" against Hardin, is simply a rich, ambitious and unscrupulous whisky distiller of Louisville, who, as a candidate for the Democratic Congressional nomination in the Louisville district, was signally defeated, though he opened his bar'l and scattered his money in every direction. The fact is, Atherton bolted the ticket long ago and is nothing more than any other bolter—possibly something less.

Judge Murphy is right in thinking that temptation should never be placed before thieves, yet the average business man employing strangers will have to drop his regular work in the day and perhaps sit up most of the night if he is to keep temptation entirely away from his new employes. And if he is too cautious to employ them they will be still out of work.

The bicyclers have at last appeared in a political platform. The New York Democrats, in their declaration of principles, call for "improved highways of travel throughout the State in the interest of our citizens, and particularly of the farmers and bicycle riders." The Republican managers will view with gloom this bit of Democratic political enterprise.

Gov. Matthews of Indiana having become a candidate for the Democratic Presidential nomination, and ex-President Harrison having placed himself so as to receive the Republican nomination should it come his way, it looks as if the Hoosier State is ambitious to become the mamma of Presidents.

If the Methodist brethren addressed by ex-President Harrison the other day had listened intently they would not only have heard what he said, but they would have caught the droning of a certain persistent insect that is following a score or more of American statesmen, including the ex-President.

William Nye is perhaps forced by a mortgage on his perpendicular farm to write for the goldbugs, or possibly, as he is a professional jester, he is only joking. Monometallism, however, is a serious matter to many people who are not jesters.

There is certainly nothing anarchistic in asking that poor men or men of moderate means should pay proportionately no more taxes than wealthy people. The Illinois reformers should push this matter of equalizing taxation. It is a good thing.

Some of Gov. Morton's friends say he is not unlike Washington. The Father of His Country, however, never had a bar'l that could for a moment be compared with the Governor's, and he never had a Shoreham bar in the Capital City.

Fragments of dynamited Spaniards are said to be hanging from the trees of Cuba. With lead, steel, yellow fever and dynamite all working together for Cuban freedom, it looks as if it were time for Spain to withdraw her troops.

The gentlemen who are anxious to occupy the White House admit that Clay said he would rather be right than President, but they cannot help remembering that Mr. Clay did not mention the fact until after his defeat.

The great success of the Post-Dispatch as a circulator and advertiser is undisputed by any one who has taken the trouble to investigate its business. It is without a rival in the newspaper field of St. Louis.

The Louisville Commercial says that if Carlisle comes to Kentucky next November to vote, it is safe to say he will vote for Bradley. To be consistent Mr. Carlisle could scarcely do otherwise.

The story of the new City Hall seems to convey a warning to the city never to attempt to put up another building, but we shall have to have some more school houses.

Should the Republican majority in Ohio happen to be reduced in the coming election, it will be as bad for McKinley as is the business revival under a reduced tariff.

It is said that the richest gold mines are found in granite. Possibly we would do well by turning over our excellent Missouri article to see what we can find.

As soon as Key West is connected with the Florida mainland we shall be within a five-hours' sail of Cuba. That near, we ought to be able to recognize her easily.

The attention of the cigarette boy is called to the case of Uncle Josey Field of New Jersey, aged 103, who smoked once when a boy and never did it again.

The better the new tariff law works, the worse for McKinley. For the sake of the Ohio man nominations for '96 ought to have been made in '94.

There is danger of a milk famine in New York, but it will be nothing to what the Sunday drinks famine has been to the miserable Gothamites.

To the impecunious titled foreigner every American family with money bags is a "house," and he doesn't care whether Jack or Vanderbilt it.

Mr. Bland is in the Democratic party and Senator Vest is sound on the silver question. Verily all is lovely in Imperial Missouri.

Pharmacist Walbridge is preparing for Uncle Filley a powerful diaphoretic, and the perspiration will be blood.

MR. O'MEARA HAS ARRIVED.

Mr. Stephen B. O'Meara arrived in St. Louis Sunday night. Immediately on his arrival he went to the Southern Hotel and sent the following telegram:

"Joseph Pulitzer, Bar Harbor, Me.: I have just arrived in St. Louis to-night. (Signed.) O."

Mr. O'Meara is a New Englander by birth, and is well-known in the East as a journalist and Republican politician. For some years prior to March last he was editor and manager of the Boston Journal, and under his management the Journal was one of the most radical and ardent advocates of McKinleyism in the entire country. The mere mention of Tariff Reform would set it foaming at the mouth, as it were.

Mr. O'Meara's views on the money question are less definitely known, but as he is a Republican and a Bostonian, it may be assumed that he is as ardent a champion of the single gold standard as of Protection. He will find congenial reading in the Globe-Democrat, but while he is in Missouri he can easily learn, if he cares to, that McKinleyism and gold monometallism are repudiated by substantially all the Democrats and by at least half the Republicans in this portion of Uncle Sam's domain.

Besides editing a dyed-in-the-wool Republican organ in Boston, Mr. O'Meara was a member of the executive committee of Republican Clubs of Massachusetts and was prominently identified with the Republican party machine in the State.

A Champion of the People.

From the Hallsville (Mo.) Herald.

The Post-Dispatch is without a doubt the best paper published in St. Louis. It is ably edited by Col. Charles H. Jones, and is an intelligent champion of the rights of the people, and for the free and unlimited coinage of both gold and silver. Col. Jones is one of the ablest journalists in the country.

MEN OF MARK.

Harry N. Pillsbury of Brooklyn, who won the chess championship of the world at the Hastings tournament, is arranging a chess match between the British and Brooklyn clubs.

Joseph Field of Middletown, N. J., is 103 years of age, and ascribes his good health to the fact that for eighty years he has not failed to take a drink of either applejack or brandy each day.

Walter Besant sticks up for the principle that the literary laborer is worthy of his hire. He won't write a line under the settled rate of 10 guineas ($52.50) per 1,000 words, and none of the publishers has struck against it.

President Faure has taken out a license to shoot game on the preserves around Paris, like a plain citizen of the republic. M. Faure, by the way, won his reputation as a sportsman by shooting tigers in the Sahara and roebuck and bouquetin in Hungary.

It is reported that the domestic organization of the Vatican is such that if the Pope were to be taken fatally ill it would be kept a secret for several days. Lately it has been arranged that not even the body servants of the Pope could penetrate the secret. But the health of the Pope at present does not at all justify such proceedings.

WOMEN OF NOTE.

Rosa Bonheur, at 73, is painting a large picture representing a fight between two stallions.

Maud Evans, less than 20 years of age, residing in Beaver Falls, Pa., is said to have her third set of natural teeth.

Lady Brassey is a cyclist who wears skirts. But the Lady Cyclist states that there is already a mild plot among lady cyclists to persuade her ladyship, on landing in Melbourne, to adopt "rationals."

Mrs. Charlotte Perkins Stetson, lecturer, writer and philanthropist, and also a granddaughter of Dr. Lyman Beecher, has come from California to reside for three months as an assistant at Hull House, in Chicago.

Mrs. Lamont, wife of the Secretary of War, and her three daughters, have become experts in amateur photography. They have hundreds of pictures made by themselves of interesting scenes they visited on their recent tour in the West.

THE BRIGHT SIDE OF THINGS.

"He didn't have the sand to propose, did he, Bessie?" "Yes; but she rejected him. She said that while he had the sand to propose he didn't have the rocks to marry."—Harper's Magazine.

Cumulative Evidence—"You ought to be very proud of your wife. She is a brilliant talker." "You're right there." "Why, I could listen to her all night." "I often do."—Texas Siftings.

Mrs. Bjones—"Does your husband use profane language?" Mrs. Bjohnson—"Never!" Mrs. Bjones—"How do you know?" Mrs. Bjohnson—"Don't I see him button his collar every morning?"—Philadelphia Record.

O'Hoolihan—"Wad's thot Oi hear about yer wurkin' in the new parks?" Murphy (apologetically)—"Be gobs! yez can't hardly call it wurkin'. Oi swings me hammer up, an' whin Oi let's it drap, it's so heavy its own weight breaks the stones intirely."

Learned men do not always appreciate the achievements of their fellows. It is said that a friend brought Milton's "Paradise Lost" to a great Scotch mathematician, who remarked, when he had finished it: "It's verra pretty; but, mon, what does it prove?"—Argonaut.

Miss Townsend—"Do you find much difficulty in keeping help here?" Mrs. Suburb—"Indeed, yes. It is next to impossible to keep a girl more than a week." Miss Townsend—"Why is that—too far from the city?" Mrs. Suburb—"Oh no, I think not; but you see we have only one policeman in the town, and he's married."—Judge.

A Kansas City Kick.

From the Kansas City Star.

Chaucey I. Filley's gracious announcement that Mr. Harris is, and Mr. Middlebrook would have been, "personally satisfactory" to him as Election Commissioner for Kansas City may thrill Mayor Davis with delight, but the people in general will resent the presumption that Kansas City's affairs are, in any degree, subject to the approval of a St. Louis boss.

A GOOD THING IN SEASON.

"A Slaying Party."

A NEW JERSEY NOVELTY.

Birthday of a Man Who Drank Applejack Eighty-Two Years.

Special to The Post-Dispatch.

NEW YORK, Sept. 24.—Uncle Josey Field, who lives on his fine farm at Meadelton, N. J., is 108 years old to-day. He married when he was an old man, but his wife has been dead twenty-two years. His three children are living.

Uncle Josey never saw Gen. Washington. He drank Jersey applejack for eighty-two years, and a year ago switched to brandy. He smoked his father's pipe once when he was a boy and has never smoked since. He is below medium height and his form is slightly bent. He is thin, his face is wrinkled, he has silvery hair. His hearing is good; his voice is strong, but his eyes are dim.

ANGRY HEIRS.

The Attempt to Break the Will of Eccentric John Herron.

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., Sept. 26.—A year ago John Herron, somewhat eccentric, died. He left his estate, worth nearly $300,000, to the Indianapolis Art Association to found an art museum bearing his name. His heirs are now trying to break the will, alleging mental incapacity and undue influence.

True Love.

Written for the Post-Dispatch.

I love my love; we will not part,
May every blessing court him;
Oh, he's the darling of my heart,
And papa will support him.

A HEAVY SILK SALE.

One of the Largest on Record Going on in New York.

NEW YORK, Sept. 26.—One of the largest silk sales that has ever been held is now going on in this city. Townsend & Montant, auctioneers, at 85 Leonard street, have sold for Pelgram & Meyer, silk manufacturers at Paterson, N. J., 5,500 pieces of goods. Such good prices have been realized that both sellers and buyers were surprised. The South has been the heaviest buyer, and the West, and especially Chicago, also bought heavily, but the city and local trade, though well represented, bought lightly. Marshall Field bought at 72 cents fifty lots of 22-inch satin duchesse and paid a half cent more for thirty-two other lots of the same stuff. Twenty-one-inch satin Radzimer brought from 61 to 72½ cents. Nineteen-inch colored surah serges sold for 26 to 32 cents, and wider and better grades netted 37 to 41 cents. Black armures sold for 45 and 55 cents for qualities A and B, and the colored stuff went for from 36 to 45 cents.

Taffeta rays brought 35 to 37½ cents; taffeta rays brocade, 50 cents for the choice and 43 cents for lots. The checks brought 50 cents and the Scotch plaids 58 and 62 cents. Taffeta mock swivel broche sold at 53½ to 58 cents, the evening shades bringing 52 cents and the Roman 58 cents. Gros grain broche, 20-inch, sold for 54 cents; 21-inch, 60 to 62½ cents, and 67½ cents for Pat. 1,297 and 1,298. Taffeta Jardinea brought from 55½ to 62½ cents. Gros grain Pekin stripe brought 59 to 61 cents and the checks 64 cents.

THEY CAUSE CHURCH-GOING.

Tenth Annual Convention of the Brotherhood of St. Andrew.

LOUISVILLE, Ky., Sept. 26.—The members of the Brotherhood of St. Andrew are in convention here. They are all young men, and most of them are members of the Protestant Episcopal Church, though any baptized person, whether churchman or not, may belong to it. It is unlike the Christian Endeavor, Epworth League, etc., in not being in any sense whatever a social organization, and in not admitting women. It is a body of workers. None are admitted except after long probation, and even after admission if any cease activity, they are expelled. Its object is to bring young men within hearing of the preaching of the gospel—not of necessity the preaching of it from Episcopal pulpits, but from any pulpit. Its members are business men and they work among other business men. Unlike the Young Men's Christian Association, members of it rarely speak in public, and they have no buildings. Their work is man to man, whenever and wherever opportunity offers. The Brotherhood is about 15 years old and has about 16,000 members, chiefly in the United States and Canada, though the movement here is attracting attention in England. The convention is not a legislative one, for the order has no legislation to do, but a spiritual retreat and to discuss the best way to induce more young men to go to church on Sunday. The meeting is the tenth annual one, and that of 1896, which will probably be held in Buffalo, N. Y., is to be a joint American and Canadian convention. From 1,000 to 1,500 young men will be here, none of them visitors, but all delegates who are required to report back to their fellow members in their respective chapters.

UNPOPULAR HOHENLOHE.

A New Press Campaign May Be Started to Defeat Him.

NEW YORK, Sept. 26.—A special to the Herald from Berlin says: The Chancellor has declaired the Hohenlohe interview published by the Paris Figaro to be a pure invention. The National Liberal press has been much irritated by the interview, and, as a consequence, it seems as if a new press campaign were about to be started against Prince Von Hohenlohe, who is losing ground in the public estimation.

HALL CAINE IS HERE.

Arrival of the Famous English Novelist at New York.

NEW YORK, Sept. 26.—Hall Caine, the famous English novelist, set foot on American soil for the first time when he landed from the White Star liner Teutonic. Mr. Caine was met at the pier by his American publisher, W. W. Appleton, whose guest he will be during part of his sojourn in America. Mr. Caine is accompanied by his young wife and son.

TWO WOMEN AND ONE MAN.

Leroy E. Bowen of Hartford Says He Does Not Hypnotize.

Special to The Post-Dispatch.

HARTFORD, Conn., Sept. 26.—No man could more thoroughly resent a charge of employing hypnotism than does Leroy E. Bowen, contractor and builder. He says positively that he is not a hypnotist and he does not know anything about hypnotism, and this is unquestionably true. But scores of people insist that it is only the hypnotic theory which can explain the ardent love which two women have for him. No one, however, accuses Mrs. Minnie A. Kurzman of any wrong doing. Mr. Bowen insists that he never married the woman known as Mrs. Bowen. Moreover, Bowen says he is in love with Mrs. Kurzman and he is going to marry her.

Mrs. Bowen says that she and Bowen were married ten years ago, and she displays what appears to be a properly attested copy of a marriage record, which lawyers told her established the marriage beyond doubt.

Mrs. Bowen says her husband has abused and neglected her; but that she still loves him devotedly.

Mrs. Kruzman says that she met Bowen last January. They fell in love with each other and became engaged in May.

"All of my friends knew of our engagement," said Mrs. Kurzman. "It was noised about and made as public as possible, and we are going to be married. I shall not be frightened away by that woman, who is not his wife and has no claim on him. I came to Hartford simply to investigate her charges. I know they are not true. Mr. Bowen has been with me a great deal. He visited me at Long Branch during the summer. But we have never been alone together five minutes. And I am not worth $75,000 or anything like it. I am a poor woman, comparatively."

Mrs. Bowen is in North Brookfield, Mass., at her brother's home, planning what is best to do. She left the day after Mrs. Kurzman arrived.

AN OCEAN RAILROAD.

Trains Are to Be Run Between Key West and the Mainland.

Special to The Post-Dispatch.

NEW YORK, Sept. 26.—George L. Babcock, Secretary of the Key West Improvement Association, has come North to negotiate with H. M. Flagler for the construction of a railroad to connect Key West, Fla., with the mainland.

A railroad crossing these isles and spanning the dividing waters would bring the traveler within five hours' voyage of Cuba and make Key West a most important place in connection with the traffic of the Nicaragua Canal. The right of way has already been secured and $500,000 in bonds has been subscribed.

The Duke a Director.

OTTAWA, Ont., Sept. 26.—It is said here that the Duke of Marlborough has become a director of the Grand Trunk Railway and that Sir Charles Rivers Wilson will make such announcement in a few days.

Isn't This a Smart Gown?

This is a smart Fall gown in narrow boucle striped woolen material, the bodice of which is prettily arranged with full gatherings on the shoulders drawn down into the waist. The sleeves are large with deep velvet cuffs, fastening on to the arm with fancy buttons. Two velvet straps finished with buttons ornament the skirt.

For Insomnia.

A woman who has suffered greatly from insomnia and generally from nervous troubles believes that she has found a sovereign remedy for the first of these ailments and consequently an alleviation for the second as well. This is to have a plate set ready at her bedside each night which contains some very light refreshment, such as a slice of bread and butter, a piece of fruit or a cracker or two. If she is wakeful she eats this and says that she then has little trouble in soon falling to sleep again.

A Good Cheap Soup.

Take a good fresh piece of flank and a piece of suet the size of two eggs, about two pounds of meat; put on to boil in a little over two quarts of water; one large onion chopped fine, six large tomatoes peeled and cut quite fine; boil about two hours; about three-quarters of an hour before serving add one tablespoonful of rice, washed, a pinch of cloves and cinnamon (ground); fifteen minutes before serving add one large potato cut dice shape, salt and pepper; serve with toasted bread cut dice shape.

Resplendent Jets.

A charming trimming is found in jets, fashioned into flower shapes and mounted on slender wires. A black satin gown is charmingly trimmed with this. Sprays of jet flowers are arranged on each side of a panel of brocaded white and black velvet on the front of the skirt. The bodice is cut jacket fashion, with flaring hip pieces. The plain, straight vest is of brocade, and it flares over the jacket, forming large plaited shoulder pieces, which extend on the sleeve in huge wings. These are edged in with the jet flowers.

Cold Meat Croquettes.

One pint of cold chopped meat, one-half pint of milk, salt and cayenne pepper to taste, one tablespoon of butter, two tablespoons of flour, one tablespoon of onion juice, a pinch of mace; mix butter and flour together and add to the boiling milk; stir until it thickens and pour over the meat; when cool form into balls and dip in egg and bread crumbs and fry in hot lard.

To Drive Away Ants.

If you get some green peppermint, which usually grows by the brookside, and lay it on the floors and shelves of your pantry and kitchen you will find that the ants disappear immediately.

Apply powdered sulphur very liberally to the parts most frequented by them and they will turn their feet in some other direction; or sprinkle sugar on a damp sponge, and when the feast is under way drop the sponge in hot water.

Put pieces of camphor gum or cloth wet with camphor on the pantry shelves and the ants will disappear.

Use plenty of powdered borax in the pantry.

Capes and Cloaks.

A smart paletot is noticeable for its double Havelock and the original arrangement of an epaulet-like shoulder cape. This is open in front and back and bordered with five rows of stitching, narrow soutache running along each row of stitches.

Another form has a loose front with small standing and turn-down collar of velvet. Two large buttons are on the collar and two below the waist. The Havelock leaves the front entirely free reaching only as far as the first side seam. The back is drawn blouse-like in natural folds under a buttoned waist belt. This belt can be widened and three series of buttons are provided for the purpose. With widened belt the back is sacque-like, and over it is attached a long, narrow hood.

A Fine Face Cream.

A very delightful face cream can be made at home by melting three ounces of lanoline in a shallow vessel, then heating gently one ounce of rosewater in which has been dissolved twenty grains of powdered borate of soda. The two should be mixed together at a temperature as warm as can be comfortably borne by the fingers, stirred briskly and then allowed to cool. The thickness can be overcome by adding about a teaspoonful of almond oil. This makes a most delightful emollient and will be found extremely beneficial where the skin is rough and scaly, and is invaluable as a remedy for sunburn and chapped hands.

Sabyllon.

Two yolks and one whole egg, beat a few minutes with one-half cupful of sugar into a small saucepan; place the pan into another pan containing boiling water over a fire; beat briskly while you pour in gradually one-half teacup of sherry; when the eggs begin to thicken remove and add the juice of one-quarter of a lemon; an excellent pudding sauce.

Caraway Seed Cake.

One-half cup of sugar, one cup of butter, one-half cup of caraway seed, beaten to a cream. Three cups of flour, one-half cup of water, three eggs and two teaspoonfuls of baking powder.

THE DOCTOR'S ADVICE.

Please tell me what to take for neuralgia in the side of the face. E. M.

Take a powder composed of two grains of monobromate of camphor and three grains of acetanilide every three hours.

What can I do for rheumatic pains in the wrist and elbow joints? H. L.

Take ten grains of salicylate of soda in water every three hours.

LETTERS FROM THE PEOPLE.

What Senator Vest Said.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

In an interview published in the Post-Dispatch this afternoon I am reported as saying that the farmers of Germany are better educated than the same class in this country. What I did say was that they were better educated than the same class in other parts of Europe.

Your reporter also inadvertently makes me say that the silver men can drive the gold men out of the Democratic party. So far from desiring to drive any one out of the party, I would be sorry to know that I had said or done anything that would tend to such a result. G. G. VEST.
St. Louis, Sept. 25.

A Sedalia Project.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

It is stated in your paper yesterday that the response to the call for funds for the "Missouri on Wheels" scheme is not very brisk. Being one of those who received a circular and returned it without a check, I would like to ask why St. Louis should contribute to the movement? The project is a Sedalia one, and upon its success depends thousands of votes for capital removal. It is much better for the capital to remain in Jefferson City, so far as St. Louis is concerned, and even Kansas City, which naturally favors removal, has failed to enthuse over this movement. The Post-Dispatch has frequently called attention to the deplorable condition of some of our city institutions, and moreover that standing nightmare, the unfinished City Hall, offers ample score for the generous. I do not advocate selfishness, but think this is a case where it is right to say "millions for St. Louis," but not a dollar for Sedalia, or for capital removal on wheels or otherwise.
A NON-CONTRIBUTOR.
St. Louis, Sept. 25.

Watered "Money."

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

Have you space for an historical study of "money?" Money is anything which can at once be traded for any commodity desired; salt, sugar, cattle, furs have all served this purpose. The metals, copper, silver and gold, were selected by advanced nations as they were small in bulk, durable and easily divided.

They were, at first, used wholly by weight, in crude bars. To facilitate commerce the various governments began to stamp each bar to show its weight. Later on they also stamped its quality or fineness on each bar. The names pound, shilling and pence are the names not of value, but of weights.

The ancient Roman pondo, the French livre and the English pound sterling (£), the present English measure of value, were originally actual lumps of metal, weighing one pound each. These names, however, have lost their significance through the dishonesty of the various governments, the weights having been tampered with until a pound sterling, for example, contains but a few ounces of metal.

The name pound is now only a "legal fiction," not a solid twelve-ounce fact! There has been no "honest money" since then.

Honest money is an honest weight or measure of whatever is chosen to serve the purpose of "money" and its value should be regulated, not by legislation, but by supply and demand. Nothing else is "honest."

The present price of gold is the result of a shrewd legal farce. The idea is to buy labor at half price in order to make 100 per cent profit on the produce of labor, over and above the usual profit. This is how it is done: England has a law which says that the Bank of England must buy every ounce of gold presented to it for purchase at a certain fixed price (a fictitious price, too, being expressed in fictitious weights of metal). As a matter of fact the bank never bought an ounce of gold under this law, for it either coins the metal and returns it to the owner, which is certainly not buying it, or else it issues a certificate of deposit, a ware-house receipt, called a Bank of England note, and this can hardly be called buying it.

This is a farce-comedy of "buying and selling," in which the buyer buys nothing and the seller keeps what he sells! But it fixes the price of gold just the same and it is the system we adopted from England in 1873. This is what you might truthfully call watering "money."

Vote it out of existence. WESTERNER.
Bartold, Mo., Sept. 24.

Your Wife Has the First Claim on You.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

A neighbor became offended at my wife and now none of the family will speak to her, but they all speak to our children and myself. I am puzzled to know my duty in the matter. I love and respect my wife above all others and do not wish to give offense to her. Do you think in deference to my wife I ought to recognize those who thus slight her?

Independence Avenue.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

I have read with much interest the letters published in your valuable paper suggesting a new name for King's highway. All seem to be impressed with the idea that the new name should in no way pertain to foreign countries or rulers and with this I fully agree. Therefore I think no more appropriate name could be suggested than Independence avenue.

Wall Street Philanthropy.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

If reckless discontent and wild experiment should sweep our currency from its safe support, the most defenseless of all who suffer in that time of distress will be the laborer as he sees the money he has received for his wages shrink and shrivel in his hands when he tenders it for the necessaries of life for his home."—From President Cleveland's letter.

The writer once visited New York. He was impressed by the anxious, care-burdened, strained look on the faces of the habitues of Wall street. To a man, they had crows' feet on their faces. This was a puzzle, but the writer applied himself diligently and discovered the cause. It is caused by disinterested anxiety for the welfare of the laboring men. These Wall street gold bugs care not a fig for themselves. If the laboring man was only well provided for they would be happy and cease lying awake nights, but they grow prematurely gray, they get crows' feet and hard lines all over their faces worrying lest the laboring man will bring injury upon himself. Even now they are impoverishing themselves by spending thousands in distributing gold bug literature designed to keep the laborer from voting in favor of a dollar that would "distress" him by "shrinking and shriveling."

Noble, broad-minded Grover. Better no dollar at all than such a dollar as that. A silver dollar is worse than no dollar at all; of course it is!

The gold standard must and shall be preserved. Our children may starve, but our hands shall not be soiled by that unclean thing.

Glorious Grover, patriot and poet, continue the noble, self-sacrificing struggle. Fight the good fight until the Master says: "It is enough; come up higher."

The Return of the Blond.

From the Boston Globe.

Once more has summer flitted by,
Again is my vacation ended;
And now, alas! I'm thinking why
I'm not as yet some one's intended.

Into the billows at the beach
I plunged with Count De Hildenseeks;
And with the earl of Barronhights
I climbed the mighty mountain peaks.

With Ed I trod a measure gay,
And listened to his love-lorn sigh,
And then with Jack next day—dear Jack!—
Went romping through the fields of rye.

With Frank I sailed the summer seas,
And such delightful hours we spent!
And went to drive with Fred, so oft
That he returned without a cent.

And one and all proposed to me,
I think they really meant it, too,
But I was so confused, you see,
I didn't know just what to do.

And now once more I'm back in town,
While all the men, oh, where are they?
Fond echo says: "In a dry goods store
A-calling 'cash' through all the day."

DEEP WATER CONFERENCE.

Great Gathering at Topeka to Discuss the Development of the West.

W. B. Slosson of Houston, Tex., delegate to the Western States Deep-Water Conference at Topeka, Kan., Oct. 1, 2 and 3, arrived in St. Louis Wednesday morning to arrange for St. Louis' representation at the conference. The objects of the enterprise render it of peculiar importance to St. Louis, as well as to all the territory between the Rockies and the Mississippi River. Its chief aim will be the inception of an Inter-American Exposition, to be held in 1897 at Galveston, Tex., commemorative of the securing of a deep-water harbor at that point, which reduced the transportation distance between gulf ports and the Northwest, 1,000 miles, and freight rates from 75 cents to 35 cents per hundred. The Inter-American Exposition will be designed to encourage and build up direct trade relations between the Southern States and South American countries and the great Northwest. The discussion of the best methods for the utilization by the Northwestern merchant and farmer of the improved transportation facilities resultant upon the completion of the deep-water harbor, will form an important part of the business of the Western States Conference. St. Louis being the natural trade center of this territory, has a deep interest in the success of the undertaking.

After calling upon prominent merchants, Mr. Slosson left Thursday morning for Kansas City, well satisfied with the results of his visit. Among other things, he secured from the Western Passenger Association, in session Wednesday, the promise of a rate of one fare for the round trip to Topeka, for the conference. To a Post-Dispatch reporter he stated that the approach of the conference is being hailed with enthusiasm throughout the West and Northwest. Since the issuance of the call by Gov. E. N. Morrill of Kansas, Aug. 29, last, Mr. Slosson has been into Colorado, Nebraska, Kansas, Iowa, Missouri and Illinois, and reports that the only point at which he encountered indifference was at Chicago, which is just now seeking a Southern market through the Atlanta Exposition, and whose interests are largely identified with the Atlantic seaboard.

"In accord with Gov. Morrill's call," said Mr. Slosson, "the conference will be made up of delegates from every State in the territory to be benefited, including Missouri, Texas, Nebraska, Kansas, Arkansas, Colorado, New Mexico, Wyoming and the territory of Oklahoma, all of which have appointed delegates, with a number additional yet to be heard from. The delegations will consist of the Governor of each State and Territory West of the Mississippi River, and twelve delegates at large, selected by the State's chief executive, two of whom must be United States Senators, and four delegates at large from each Congressional district, one of whom must be the member of Congress from that district; also the presidents of the Chambers of Commerce, or Boards of Trade, who, if they cannot attend, may send alternates. The Mayor of each town is also a delegate and is empowered to appoint an additional one for every 10,000 inhabitants of his city. So, the gathering will be a large one, and it promises to be in every way a success."

Tax Payers' Last Chance.

Collector's Office,
North Wing of Court-house,
Monday, Sept. 23, 1895.

This is the last week, positively, in which taxpayers can receive the benefit of the 8 per cent rebate on city taxes.

This opportunity expires Tuesday, October 1, 1895. HENRY ZIEGENHEIN, Collector.

OVER THREE MILES LONG.

Parade of the Kansas Veterans at Salina.

SALINA, Kan., Sept. 26.—This city has surrendered to the old veterans. The State reunion is a tremendous success, and every day adds to the enthusiasm and numbers. The annual parade took place at 9:30 this morning and was over three miles in length. Two thousand students from the public schools and colleges marched in the procession.

Senator W. A. Peffer was in line. A mighty crowd is present at Camp John A. Logan today. Last night was Sons of Veterans' Night, and an inspiring address was made by Col. Ed. Madison, of that organization.

ILLINOIS CENTRAL.

Proposed Increase of Capital Stock of $10,000,000.

CHICAGO, Sept. 26.—The $10,000,000 increase of the capital stock of the Illinois Central Railroad, which the stockholders of the corporation will be asked to authorize at the special meeting called by the directors for Nov. 26, is to be used in completing the purchase of the Chesapeake, Ohio & Southeastern Railroad.

J. W. Doane, one of the Chicago directors of the company, says the money will be applied to the purchase of the first mortgage bonds of the Chesapeake, Ohio & Southeastern, of which the Illinois Central expected to get full control in February, 1896.

Harvard College.

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., Sept. 26.—Harvard University begins its 259th year to-day with increased attendance in all departments and the prospect of another prosperous year. The students have been pouring into Cambridge during the past week and the old college yard has shaken off its summer lethargy and become all bustle and activity once more. Every student is required to register to-day, and regular lectures begin in the afternoon. Harvard begins another year with several innovations and increased facilities, but in spite of the new dormitories built last year students' rooms are at a premium, and Memorial Hall, where the students dine, has a waiting list of over 600. During the summer a new reading room has been provided in the library, and the building itself is being equipped with electric light, which will allow the use of the building evenings for the first time in its history.

Big Land Suit.

Special to The Post-Dispatch.

TAYLORVILLE, Ill., Sept. 26.—A partition suit involving over 5,000 acres of land in King Township, Christian Co., Ill., valued at $350,000, has been filed in the Circuit Court by W. M. Provine and wife, N. Douglas Ricks and wife and George E. Maxon and wife against P. D. Cheney and wife of Jersey County, W. T. Vandeveer, E. A. Vandeveer, W. T. Dowall, Henry Davis, Mary and Catherine Teese of Christian County.

This immense estate has been through the courts before and was the subject of a reversal by the Illinois Supreme Court of a decision of Circuit Judge Jesse J. Phillips.

LUMBER PRICES ADVANCE.

Low Stocks and an Increasing Demand the Occasion Therefor.

The price of white and yellow pine lumber has been considerably advanced in this market. Both the retail and wholesale dealers have been forced to this by the conditions prevailing in the producing districts. During the recent depression the producers were forced to make sales. In consequence many mills shut down rather than lose money, and the stocks are running low.

An advance of $1 per 1,000 feet has now been made on white pine and from $1 to $2 on yellow pine, based on the increasing demand.

Telegraphic advivces from Little Rock are that the Arkansas and Missouri Yellow Pine Association has made a reduction in what is known as the Texarkana list. This list applies only to points west of the Missouri River. An advance was made by this association Sept. 2 of 50 cents to $2 per 1,000 to apply east of the Missouri River, and on Sept. 10 an advance of $1.50 to $3.50 on the west of the Missouri list. Owing to the competition of white pine and low rates of freight it was found necessary to reduce the latter. It is not probable that any reduction will be made in this section.

White pine comes from Wisconsin, Iowa and Minnesota and yellow pine from Missouri, Arkansas, Texas, Mississippi and Louisiana.

QUESTION OF SUPPLY.

Big Iron Concerns Securing Supplies of Raw Material.

NEW YORK, Sept. 26.—The Iron Age says:

The question of a supply of raw material is the one uppermost in the minds of the managers of the largest interests in the country. The coke situation has improved. The ore situation is decidedly clearer, at least so far as foreign supplies are concerned.

The flurry in Bessemer pig in Pittsburg is now pretty well over. The great concerns have continued eager purchasers of ore and pig and are evidently securing supplies as far ahead as they can get them. On small business the billet market has gone off about $1 per ton from the highest point.

In the East the most disquieting feature has been the appearance of a large Pittsburg concern as a sharp competitor for small lots in the face of recent protestations that the mills were crowded with work for months to come. One Eastern mill has also reappeared on the scene. Taking it altogether the situation is puzzling.

YOUNG SPIRITS,

a vigorous body and robust strength follow good health. But all fail when the vital powers are weakened. Nervous debility and loss of manly power result from bad habits, contracted by the young through ignorance of their ruinous consequences. Low spirits, melancholia, impaired memory, morose or irritable temper, fear of impending calamity and a thousand and one derangements of body and mind, result from such pernicious practices. All these are permanently cured by improved methods of treatment without the patient leaving home.

A medical treatise written in plain but chaste language, treating of the nature, symptoms and curability of such diseases, sent securely sealed in a plain envelope, on receipt of this notice with 10 cents in stamps, for postage. Address, WORLD'S DISPENSARY MEDICAL ASSOCIATION, Buffalo, N.Y.

Just Like McNichol! Always Willing to Help!

There came a poor fellow to town
Who had not a cent in his pocket;
If judgment had called for a tramp,
His name would been first on the docket.
His family trailed on behind—
The wife and the children all weeping;
If they'd had a home, d'ye mind,
Every one of them sure would been sleeping!

McNichol from the tail of his eye
Had often seen sights not to mention;
And he said to himself, "By and by I'll get all this fellow's attention."
He said to him, "Friend, come with me;
I know what you want—I can feel it—
The comfort you're going to see
Is yours, and no one will steal it.

"No doubt you have wished for a home,
But had not the money to make it;
Let me say you have ceased now to roam,
And your word—why, I know you'll not break it.
Come to my house then and choose
The things for which you've been sighing.
Your wife will be glad of the news
That you are so cheerfully buying."

McNichol took back not a word—
He went on and put in the things;
It was just like a story you've heard
Of fairyland—birds on their wings—
This man had few dollars to spare
He felt it as sharp as a sickle,
But now he will willingly swear
There's no friend on earth like McNichol.

Well, thousands do the same! Only go and tell your woes to

URGES ACTION.

Gov. Stone Issues a Proclamation on the Western States Conference.

Special to The Post-Dispatch.

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo., Sept. 26.—Gov. Stone to-day issued the following proclamation:

State of Missouri, Executive Department.
JEFFERSON CITY, Mo., Sept. 26.

In pursuance of a proclamation of His Excellency, the Governor of Kansas, issued at the request of the Governor of Texas, a conference of Western States has been called to assemble at Topeka, Kan., on Oct. 1, 1895, for the purpose of securing united action among the people of the Western States to utilize the deep water obtained on the Gulf of Mexico, and to arrange the best plan for holding an Inter-American Exposition to display what the Western States can most profitably produce and export.

Under the call of Gov. Morrill, the Governor of each State, the Mayor of each city, President of the Chamber of Commerce, Board of Trade, or other commercial body in each State lying west of the Mississippi River is ex-officio a delegate to the convention and each of such Mayors is empowered to appoint a delegate for each ten thousand inhabitants, or fraction thereof, of his city. If the Mayor, President of the Chamber of Commerce, Board of Trade, etc., is unable to attend, he is authorized to appoint some one to represent him at the conference.

In view of the great importance of this meeting and the great interest being taken in it by leading business men throughout the West, I feel justified in this public way in urging upon the Mayors of cities and the presidents of various commercial bodies organized throughout the State to attend the conference, or to see to it that their cities and boards are property represented. Inasmuch as the date for the meeting is near at hand, prompt action should be taken if delegates are to be appointed. This is a matter of great interest to the manufacturing, mining, mercantile and agricultural interests of this State.

(Signed.) WM. J. STONE, Governor.

TALMAGE ACCEPTS.

The Distinguished Divine Will Go to Washington.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 26.—Rev. Dr. Talmage of Brooklyn has accepted the call to be co-pastor of the First Presbyterian Church of this city. This decision was communicated by him to the special committee of elders, deacons and trustees in a letter received to-day. Dr. Talmage is to be co-pastor of the church of equal authority with Dr. Sunderland and probably will preach one-half of the sermons beginning Sunday evening, October 27.

JOHN HARR ON TRIAL.

Insanity the Plea of the Defense in the Memphis Murder Case.

Special to The Post-Dispatch.

MEMPHIS, Mo., Sept. 26.—The John Harr murder trial lasted till late last night, after two days of argument by counsel, and is now in the hands of the jury. The case was warmly contested and has consumed an entire week, insanity being the only defense made, and the defendant's hopes largely based on expert testimony. Both [illegible] are confident of success.

PAY FOR IMPRISONMENT.

Two United States Sailors Want $20,000 From Spain.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 26.—Alex. Porter Morse appeared at the State Department to-day and as consul for Gustav Richlieu preferred a claim for $20,000 against the Spanish Government for illegal arrest and imprisonment. Richlieu and Bolon, claiming to be American sailors, were picked up off the Cuban port of Guantanamo several months ago by a Spanish patrol. They were in a small boat and claimed that they had come all the way over from Hayti, hunting for turtles. They were arrested on suspicion of being concerned in a filibustering movement but the American Consular Agent at Guantanamo secured their release after a few days detention. They then made their way to Santiago, where they were again arrested on a charge of coming away from Guantanamo without passports. They were thrown into jail at Santiago and in spite of the efforts of Consul Hyatt were kept imprisoned for several weeks, meanwhile suffering from fever. The department will probably call upon our Consular officers for a full statement of the facts before presenting the claims.

It is estimated that 75,000 people are on the grounds to-day. To-morrow Alix will be sent against 2:04¼ for a handsome purse.

Sedalia Cyclists Arrested.

SEDALIA, Mo., Sept. 26.—About fifty bicyclists, among them prominent ladies and gentlemen, were arrested last night for violating the bicycle ordinance which forbids wheelmen to ride without bells and lamps. It is thought that the fines will be remitted on condition that the offenders comply with the ordinance.

DEATH SHOT AND PURSUIT.

Fatal Wound for an Oklahoman Who Refused to Buy Cattle.

Special to The Post-Dispatch.

GUTHRIE, O. T., Sept. 26.—At Pleasant Valley, in the old Cheyenne reservation, William Dunlap, a stock dealer, was shot by two men who attempted to sell his some cattle, he having refused to buy because he recognized the cattle as the ones stolen from Gus Holland, near Concord, at the time he was murdered two weeks ago.

Dunlap is still alive, but will die. He gave a good description of the men who shot him and a posse of farmers in pursuit of them shot and killed one named Abe Smith, believed to have been the murderer of Holland and a member of the Wyatt gang of outlaws.

NEW JERSEY DEMOCRATS.

All Signs Point to the Nomination of Chancellor McGill.

TRENTON, N. J., Sept. 26.—The delegates to the Democratic State Convention are arriving on every train and the town is taking on a convention aspect. The Essex and Hudson delegates arrived by a special train and marched to the Trenton House. There is no change in the situation from last night except that Judge Carrow of Camden will be chosen permanent chairman of the convention.

It is conceded on all sides that Chancellor McGill will be nominated for Governor on the first ballot.

The work of seating the 932 delegates in the Opera House consumed so much time that it was 12:20 when the convention was called to order by State Chairman Allan McDermott.

Most of the party leaders from all over the State were in the hall, including Senator Smith, who was seated with the Essex delegation.

Samuel Kalisch of Newark was made Temporary Chairman.

After the selection of representatives from each county on the Committee on Resolutions, Permanent Organization, Rules, etc., the convention took a recess.

WENT TO THE WRONG HOUSE.

Sixth District Patrol Wagon Driver Fined $2.

Isaac Kelly, who drives the patrol wagon in the Sixth District, will discontinue his wanderings along the Rialto in future.

Thursday morning in Judge Stevenson's court he was fined $25 for disturbing the peace of Mrs. Belle Hammond of 1714 Whittier street, a comely mulatto woman, a leader in elite colored circles and wife of John Hammond, a colored politician.

Hammond formerly conducted a saloon, but is now a Pullman porter. How he has thrived at this latter occupation can be attested to by the fact he is now owner of two dwellings in the neighborhood of Easton and Whittier.

On the night of Sept. 6 Kelly and five or six companions, mistaking the character of Hammond's house, called at an unseemly hour and demanded admission. Mrs. Hammond ordered them out and secured their arrest.

Erecting Corbett's Training Quarters.

SAN ANTONIO, Tex., Sept. 26.—The Jockey Club began erection of Champion Corbett's training quarters and buildings to-day.

SHIPS IN COLLISION.

The American Steamer Alert and the British Vessel Condor.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Sept. 26.—A cablegram received at the Navy Department to-day from Commander Hanford of the U. S. S. Alert at Guayaquil officially reports that his ship was in collision yesterday with the British steamer Condor, and that the Alert's bowsprit was carried away. As no further details are given the officials at the Navy Department are inclined to believe the damage was slight.

STONED THE RESORT.

Mrs. W. Wittenweiler's Method of Reclaiming Her Fallen Daughter.

Wednesday night Eliza Wittenweiler resorted to a peculiar method in reclaiming her erring daughter. The daughter is an inmate of Nellie Hayes' resort on Lucas avenue, and on Wednesday night Mrs. Wittenweiler stationed herself on the sidewalk in front of the house and began to throw rocks through the windows. Possibly her idea was to let in a strong, pure light. Nellie Hayes couldn't see the consistency of the idea and had Mrs. Wittenweiler arrested.

The Court fined Mrs. Wittenweiler $5, but stayed it on good behavior.

LOST IN A DICE GAME.

Herman Kalen's Charge Against Confidence Man William Ellis.

William Ellis, a noted confidence man, is under arrest and a warrant charging him with petit larceny has been sworn out by Herman Kalen of 507 South Second street, Ellis' latest victim.

Sept. 21 Kalen, after cashing a check for $60, met a tall man, who after procuring him a situation, opened up a dice game, lost all his money to a third man and $50 more borrowed from Kalen. Kalen complained to the police and Wednesday afternoon Detectives Hatton and Dotzman singled out Ellis as the man.

Ellis was on Olive street near Twelfth at the time and when the detectives approached him he made a desperate attempt to elude them, jumping on street cars and dodging in alleys, but he was finally overhauled. Kalen's money was not recovered.

KILLED BY LIGHTNING.

Missouri Farmer's Wife and Son Met Death in a Field.

Special to The Post-Dispatch.

MEMPHIS, Mo., Sept. 26.—Mrs. Jenkins and 16-year-old son, Jesse, were killed by lightning last evening about sundown at their home in the north part of the city. They had gone to feed some stock, leaving five small children in the house. After waiting their return for some time, one of the children went to a neighbor's to report their absence, and while she was absent the father returned and found the dead bodies of his wife and son in a pasture lot near the house, the clothes burned off the boy.

WORKED THE BADGER GAME.

How Edgar Hogan Was Beaten and Robbed.

Edward Hogan of 1405 Washington avenue reported to the police that about 10:30 Wednesday night a woman enticed him into the house at 814 North Twenty-second street. He had been inside only a short time when a man, claming to be the husband of his hostess, entered through a rear door. According to Hogan, the man immediately assaulted him, and after, beating him to his heart's content, robbed him of $1.30, and then ejected him from the house. The police were informed, but when they arrived at the house both man and woman were gone.

KNIFE AND RAZOR.

Horrible Manner in Which C. F. Lewis Attempted to Commit Suicide.

Having decided that death would bring eternal solace, C. F. Lewis, a driver for James Dupiths, soda water manufacturer, at 805 South Seventh street, set about to kill himself at 11 a. m. Thursday with horrible and unusual persistence. He boarded at 1122 Chouteau avenue.

He did not leave his room Thursday morning, and spent his time making preparations to end his life. He first sharpened his razor, and then, as if doubtful of its efficacy, whetted his pocket knife. Then he lay down upon the bed, and slashed his throat from ear to ear with the razor, severing the windpipe. Death did not come as speedily as he wished and after awaiting it awhile he plunged the knife into his breast until the blade was entirely hidden in the flesh. He aimed at the heart, but the weapon pierced just above it.

Again he waited. Death was still too laggard, and, drawing the knife from its quivering sheath, three times he gashed the flesh of his left wrist. The main artery was severed, and, too weak from loss of blood to carry his efforts further, the desperate man fell back and prayed for release. Gradually he lost consciousness, and he was sinking rapidly when James Walker, a fellow boarder, happened into the room and found him bathed in blood. Lewis was removed to the City Hospital. He was dying when he entered the institution.

Lewis is 50 years old. Some time ago he separated from his wife, who now resides in Pine Bluff, Ark. In the room where he was found was a letter addressed "Charles Babcock, Equitable Building," stating that despondency over his domestic troubles and the debauchery in which he had tried to bury them were responsible for his act.

CATTLE THIEVES BESEIGED.

The Fisher Gang in Colorado Fortified on a Hill.

GLENWOOD SPRINGS, Colo., Sept. 26.—The cordon of officers watching the hill on which the Fisher gang of cattle thieves are fortified are still unable to effect their arrest.

The hill is covered with a thick growth of brush and also has two or three caves in which refuge can be had. The desperadoes from their position can note every movement for miles around.

A number of cattlemen from Gypsum are also bound for the scene and an army of officers numbering over 100 men will climb the hill from all sides.

AFTER HOURS.

Two Distressed Women Cause Trouble for Two Post-Office Clerks.

The investigation of a report by the Post-Office timekeeper that two ladies passed through the door at 9:30 p. m. last Saturday, led to strange developments. The Timekeeper said that the ladies had been admitted through the back door of the Post-Office and were in the company of Dispatchers Kipp and McDonagh.

As their presence in the Post Office was a violation of the postal rules, Kipp and McDonagh were asked to make a written statement. It was then learned that the ladies entered the back door of the Post Office from the mailing lobby, and when Mr. Kipp asked them what they wanted they said they were pursued by a strange man and wished to escape through some other exit from the building. Kipp told them it was against the rules, but they begged him to let them pass through and he directed McDonagh to escort the ladies through the door watched by the time-keeper. Kipp and McDonagh were exonerated.

A policeman and two private watchmen are supposed to be in and around the Post Office lobby at night.

Hoeffner Barred as a Bondsman.

Alexander Decke, charged with embezzlement, did not appear in the Criminal Court when his case was called Thursday, and his bond of $500 was forfeited. George Hoeffner, the saloonkeeper and professional bondsman, was security. When Judge Edmunds declared the bond forfeited he made a ruling which bars George Hoeffner from going on bonds in the Criminal Court. "Hereafter," he said, "Hoeffner will not be recognized as a bondsman in this court." A number of unsatisfied judgments are now hanging over Hoeffner.

THE CRIME OF THE CENTURY.

Durrant's Attorney Makes Bold Accusations.

PASTOR GIBSON'S NAME USED

Attempt to Link the Young Minister With the Emanuel Church Double Murder.

SAN FRANCISCO, Cal., Sept. 26.—The handwriting of Rev. J. George Gibson is destined to play an important part in the "Crime of the Century," as the murders in Emanuel Church are called. In this opening statement for the defense in the trial of Theodore Durrant yesterday Attorney Deuprey said that the writing on the paper enclosing Blanche Lamont's rings and that on the wrapper addressed to Mrs. Noble were similar to the penmanship of the pastor of Emanuel Church. In a very adroit way he cast suspicion on the minister and the defense will attempt to prove his insinuations were justifiable.

In order to show the similarity of Dr. Gibson's handwriting and that on the paper and wrapper, a blackboard containing some of the pastor's writing will be introduced in evidence by the defense.

This blackboard was found on the first landing of the belfry by Attorneys Dickinson and Deuprey one day during a day of inspection of the church. They examined the board carefully at the time and after a little private consultation decided it would be of value to the defense. When they left the church they took the board with them, and by the writing on it will try to prove much that may be of a damaging character against the minister. The board contains the following notice, which was written in chalk by Dr. Gibson:

"The pastor will see visitors down stairs after services."

This board was frequently placed in the lobby of the church on Sundays. During the week it was kept in the belfry landing.

During the preliminary examination of the Minnie Williams case, the defense requested Dr. Gibson to write the names of George King and Prof. Schernstein. They are the names that were found on the paper inclosing Blanche Lamont's rings. It was the intention of the defense to produce the names written by Dr. Gibson and compare the writing with that on the paper and wrapper sent to Mrs. Noble. The lawyers of the defense will spend considerable time comparing the two specimens of handwriting.

Dr. Gibson is prepared for the attack by the defense. He would not discuss the subject, but his secretary, Robert N. Lynch, said: "The writing on the paper inclosing the rings and that on the wrapper is in no way like the penmanship of Dr. Gibson. The address on the wrapper is printed."

The District Attorney and the police scoff at the attempt made by the defense in the Durrant case to cast suspicion upon Rev. Gibson. They said in response to a question that no order would be issued for the clergyman's arrest. Rev. Gibson himself denied that he had written the names on the newspaper as charged by Attorney Deuprey. In reference to an Omaha dispatch stating that Durrant is known to have received a letter from Blanche Lamont the day after she disappeared, Mr. Deuprey said he knew nothing of such a letter.

In his address to the jury Durrant's attorney said:

"We will show that other men had access to Emanuel Church. Proof may point to others. Let me carry you along the ground upon which we ask for a verdict for the defense. First, you shall hear, from the mother [illegible] how he was interested in church work [illegible] what he did for Emanuel Church. We will tell you where he met Blanche Lamont and of her associations. Mrs. Durrant will tell how her son was dressed when he left home on the morning of April 3. She will tell what her son did that evening. The good repute and honorable character of the defendant will be proven. The attendance at the Cooper Medical College and his general demeanor will be shown.

"On the morning of April 3 Durrant left his home and walked towards the house of George King, so that he might have a helper that evening to fix the gas in the church. He accidentally met Blanche Lamont, whom he told that he was on the way to King's house and he asked her to accompany him. She said that she did not have time to accompany him before school and requested Durrant to accompany her to school. He acquiesced in this and accompanied her as far as Sutter street and Octavia. Then he went on to Webster street to the Medical College. We will show these facts, and what Durrant did from his arrival there until the noon hour, when he walked to Broadway and to a bluff overlooking the bay. We will show you his return to college at 1:30 o'clock and what was done from then until 3:30 o'clock. Then that he went to Dr. Cheney's lecture, and we will produce his notes, different from any other student's, and show that he is marked present. Dr. Cheney will tell you that he was present.

"We will show you after the lecture he took the Sutter street car to Mission and Ninth, and then went to the church, and alone did he walk into the church. We will show that he arrived at the church at 4:55 o'clock and not before; that he entered by the door on the south side; that he went into the library and took a book and a card that he wanted. He removed his coat, neatly folded it, and took out his watch, so that it would not drop out while he was fixing the gas jets. He then went up to the ceiling by a ladder, and fixed the gas burners. We will show that when the gas fitters turned on gas jets much gas escaped. Through lack of ventilation this gas remained in the atmosphere near the ceiling, and when Durrant went to the ceiling he inhaled the gas, which made him sick, as testified to by King.

"We will then turn our attention to some evidence found in the church. We will show marks upon the belfry door—the marks of a chisel; and that the chisel was found in the pastor's study in a tool box. We will show you—as long as they have introduced a paper here with letters on it —as compared with letters found in Emanuel Church, they are letters written by Rev. John George Gibson. If we are to act upon suspicion, we will show you that there are others who have been cast into suspicion and worse than the defendant.

Pastor Gibson.

SAN FRANCISCO, Cal., Sept. 26.—Rev. J. George Gibson is a Scotchman by birth, having been born in Edinburgh. He attended the Heriot Watts College and the New College as a boy. He afterward studied at Spurgeon's College, London, where he graduated at the end of 1881. He was ordained to the Baptist ministry in St. Andrew's in January, 1882. While preaching here he took a post-graduate course at St. Andrew's University, where he enjoyed the friendship of such famous preachers as the Very Rev. Principal Tulloch, chaplain to the Queen, and Dr. A. K. H. Boyd, the celebrated writer. Dr. Gibson came to this country in 1888. He preached in Chicago for a few months, but accepted a call to Red Bluff, where he remained three years and a half. He left behind him a large congregation and a host of friends. He removed to Chico, where he preached for two years and a half. Having a splendid tenor voice, he led the male choir, which was a great attraction. In August of last year he was invited to preach in Emanuel Baptist Church. He came merely for the month, as they had called a pastor. The pastor from the East declined to come to San Francisco. A call was then extended to Dr. Gibson, and he came to the church in November, 1894. Since then the congregation has doubled, and the work has been showing great signs of success in every department. He is an eloquent speaker, and never preaches from manuscript. He has in his study letters and books which he received from Mr. and Mrs. Spurgeon, also many letters of introduction from prominent ministers of his own and other denominations. He has also been a frequent writer to local and religious papers. He is the author of "Nights in the Life of Jesus Christ" and "Some Texts in the Light of To-day."

Pastor Gibson is decidedly effeminate in speech and manner. He is about 5 feet 9 inches in height and rather slender. He wears a sandy mustache, and his eyes are large and of a bluish-gray color. He dresses fashionably for a minister and women call him good looking.

REV. GIBSON'S STATEMENT.

SAN FRANCISCO, Cal., Sept. 26.—The suspicion cast upon Pastor Gibson by Durrant's attorney gives interest to the statement the minister made for publication just after the discovery of the crime. It follows:

SUNDAY, April 14.

Last Sunday morning I went to church. I got my mail, looked around the front hall and saw a new placard on the library door. I went forward to the door and read it. The door was all right. The afternoon I spent at the First Baptist Church, where I was engaged to sing. After the meeting I walked to my room along Mission street with Mr. Dietz.

Friday morning I went to church for my mail. Everything in the front hall was all right. After studying for awhile I went to the Y. M. C. A. to meet Henry Varley. I got lunch, made a call and returned to my room. As I was very tired, not having been well for the last week or two, I rested till supper. After supper I went to the church. This would be about 6:30. I unlocked the side door, passed in and locked it from the inside, as I knew it would soon be dark. If I remember correctly I went into the front hallway to see if any letters had come for me in the afternoon. Everything seemed in perfect order. I went upstairs to the study and wrote until 7:30. I then left, locked the door and went to the business meeting of our Christian Endeavor on the corner of Howard and Twenty-second streets. I remained there till 11 o'clock or a little after, when I returned to my room.

Saturday morning I got up earlier, Sunday morning being Easter. I got to the church at 8 o'clock, which is an hour sooner than I usually get there. The door was closed, but unlocked. I stepped inside and heard a noise as some one walking in the library room. I said to myself: "Oh, it is just the janitor or his boy cleaning up." As it was too early for the mail I went right up the back stair into my study. The janitor's boy came. Finding the door unlocked at an earlier hour than usual, he wondered if I was in the study. He came up the back stair, listened, heard me reading alone and then went about his work. Before he came I was conscious that some one was in the building, but did not go to see, thinking that the janitor wanted to make a special clean up for Easter. After a short time I went into the church and spoke to the janitor's boy, telling him not to clean up the platform till the afternoon. He said: "Mr. Gibson, do you know the library has been broken open?" I said: "No, but don't you say anything and I will see about it." Knowing my mail would be down stairs, I went down into the front hallway. I saw the door of the library broken open. I looked at the lock, went into the little room, looked around, but as everything was in perfect order it did not strike me to open the door of the little closet under the stairs where the books are kept, so I passed out. I went up to the study again. The piano tuner came. I can stand most things, but I could not stand the discords, so I left and went to my room on Valencia street.

About 12 o'clock a lady was announced. She told me about three Sunday-school girls finding the body. She looked into the closet, but could not make up her mind whether it was a wax or a real figure. She thought perhaps it was a rough joke. I went out with her, got Dr. King and went to the church. We saw the girl. I said: "Let us not touch a single thing." We consulted together and went to Mr. Keeler, the undertaker, on Mission street. Mr. Snook was in the office. We told him. He telephoned to the Coroner. We returned to the church. It is not true that I tried to hush up the matter. Dr. King and myself did the best thing we could think of under the circumstances. When the officers came I answered all their questions and gave them every assistance. It is not true, as the Examiner states, that Dr. Gibson absented himself from the place and could not be found either at his house or the houses of his friends. I was in the church from the moment I saw the body till evening, except when I went to lunch, about 2 o'clock. Then I called at my rooms and told my friends, as I took lunch at the restaurant almost opposite my rooms. There was no secret about my movements at all.

The whole of the day I was interviewed in the church by the officers. I refused to see the reporters because I wished to prepare my own statement of the facts and because I could not do more than help the officers of the law at one time. I thought my first duty was with them. All the young people who were decorating saw me in the church the whole day. After the officers came they asked me if I knew the girl. I said no. One of our young men arrived. He saw her clothing and said, "That is Minnie Williams' clothing." A farther inspection was made and it was decided that the murdered girl was Minnie Williams. I had only seen the girl some three times, and in the state we found her could not recognize her. The papers are in error when they say the murdered girl was found in our study. The study is upstairs and at the very opposite side of the building. It is not true that there is a bedroom in the church or that I ever sleep there. I am rich enough to hire a room with a family I have known for years. The murdered girl was found in a little closet under the stairs in the front part of the building on the ground floor. The room where my mail is dropped is on the right hand as you enter. The library is on the left and the closet opens from the library, and is under the stair going to the main building. It is quite a small place, and has a gas jet in it. After leaving the church Saturday evening I went to my room and told my friends that I would spend the night at Mr. Eayer's home, 630 Twenty-third street, but that I had had enough for one day, and would not see any reporters. I left my address with the friends so that the church members might see me. I have taken care not to be alone for one moment. One of the young men has been with me since 12:10 Saturday, and present at every interview I have had with the officers and Chief of Police. The idea that I have been hiding is untrue, for I have been all over the Mission in company with my young friend.

J. GEORGE GIBSON.

STUCK TO HER STORY.

Katie Carr Died Denying Her Lover Had Shot Her.

Katie Carter, or Mrs. Charles Burton, whose life story was told in Wednesday's Post-Dispatch, died Wednesday night in the City Hospital at Dallas, Tex. At no time had she varied her statement that the shots that killed Samuel F. Wilson, her paramour, and wounded her so that her own death has ensued, were fired by some third person. The authorities of Dallas, however, believe that Wilson was the murderer and that he was crazed by an opiate when he committed the crime.

Katie Carter was the eldest daughter of John B. Carter of 3400 Rutger street, a plasterer. For three years he had not seen or heard from her. He is too poor to have the body transported to St. Louis. Chief of Police Arnold of Dallas received a telegraphic inquiry Wednesday from C. M. Wilkerson of Kansas City, whom the woman had requested be communicated with, asking after her condition, and it is presumed Wilkerson will send for the body.

SHAME AND SUICIDE.

The Body of Mrs. Violet Haskell Found in the Woods.

DEER ISLE, Me., Sept. 26.—Mrs. Violet Haskell, who on June 17, last, married J. H. Brister, colored, leader of the Pickaninny band at Cincinnati, after leaving her husband Everett J. Haskell, seriously ill here, was found dead in the woods near here late yesterday. She had evidently committed suicide. There was a bullet hole in her head, and a revolver lay nearby. Mrs. Haskell lived with Brister but a few weeks, returning to the bedside of her husband here soon after the publication of the story of the elopement with the explanation that she had received a letter from her brother-in-law, Charles Haskell, announcing the death of Mr. Haskell. She produced this letter, but her brother-in-law denied that he was the author of it. Mrs. Haskell was forgiven by her husband who is dangerously ill, and she had been with him almost constantly since her return.

WHO IS TO BLAME?

Is It Not a Case of Guilty Neglect?

A Terrible Responsibility Rests With Somebody.

A Serious Question to a Great Many, and a Sad One.

Who is to blame?

Surely someone is to blame for the enormous amount of sickness and suffering in the world. Too often people are prone to throw the responsibility for their condition upon some higher power. In nine cases out of ten this is wrong, for in most cases the blame lies entirely with the sufferer.

It has been shown by constantly demonstrated fact, proven by the experience of thousands upon thousands of people that most of the difficulties and diseases from which people suffer are easily and readily cured by the use of Dr. Greene's Nervura blood and nerve remedy, which is, without doubt, the greatest medical discovery of modern times. It is sure to cure disease.

Mrs. Wm. M. Strong, who lives in Waitsfield, Vt., says:

"About ten years ago I had a very severe attack of typhoid fever, which left one side of my body in a very bad condition. One limb swelled badly, and every time I bore my weight on that limb, it seemed as though my hip would unjoint. The pain was dreadful, and I have never been free from that pain during all these years.

MRS. WM. M. STRONG.

"About a year ago the trouble took a different form, going into my arm also. My arm pained me terribly, and when I attempted to lift anything with that hand, my fingers would let go and it would not grip anything. I had no strength in that arm.

"This condition of my arm and limb, both on the same side, continued up to about six months ago. My head troubled me very bad. If anything came upon me suddenly, a fearful sensation came over me, starting from the top of my head, and for a short time I was entirely lost as though I was entirely gone.

"The same awful feeling would commence if I got very tired, or if many were talking at once. I do not know exactly how to describe my sensation in my head in words, but it was deathly and I suffered very much. Seemed to me as though something gave way in my head, and I was gone.

"I certainly felt a good deal alarmed about my condition and I could not have lasted a great while longer if I had not found help.

"I consulted and employed many doctors, who said there was no help for me, as it was the result of the typhoid fever, and did not so much as relieve the pain. My sister informed me of Dr. Greene's Nervura blood and nerve remedy, and advised me to try it, saying that it had helped her greatly.

"The results are, that after three bottles the pain is all gone from my limbs, and the pain and deathly feeling in my head is relieved. I am able to comfortably do the work in my family for five or six all the time.

"I do most heartily recommend Dr. Greene's Nervura blood and nerve remedy to any one suffering as I was."

If our readers will take example from this case—and such cases are constantly being reported in the newspapers—much of the sickness and suffering which renders life a burden, will be removed. It is a fact that Dr. Greene's Nervura blood and nerve remedy does cure.

It is not a patent medicine, but the prescription of the most successful specialist in curing nervous and chronic diseases, Dr. Greene of 35 West 14th st., New York City. He has the largest practice in the world, and this grand medical discovery is the result of his vast experience. The great reputation of Dr. Greene is a guarantee that his medicine will cure, and the fact that he can be consulted by any one at any time, free of charge, personally or by letter, gives absolute assurance of the beneficial action of this wonderful medicine.

GENERAL MANAGERS MEET.

Creation of a Texas Traffic Committee Practically Agreed Upon.

The third day's session of the General Managers of the railroads engaged in interstate traffic began at 10:30 Thursday morning at the Union Trust Building with General Passenger Agent Barker of the Missouri, Kansas & Texas Railway in the chair.

The discussion and amendment of the report of the special committee appointed to submit an agreement creating the Texas Traffic Committee was the order of business and was not finished until late. The establishment of the committee was practically settled and the selection of a permanent chairman who will devote his entire time to the work of the association will be made later. Several gentlemen, among them two General Passenger Agents, are prominently mentioned for the position.

LAW AND LETTERS.

Full of Love, Business, Poetry, Butter, Sentiment and Onions.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

BRIDGEPORT, Sept. 26.—Farmer Mitchell, who wooed the widow Benedict by giving her $2,500 worth of cattle and farm implements, after which she went and married Farmer Hazzard, pressed his breach of promise case in court at Newtown to-day. So great is the interest in the trial that the entire pumpkin crop of the neighborhood is going to waste. Every one is in the courtroom and no harvesting will be done until the evidence is all in.

Mr. Mitchell, who is 70 years old and eccentric, snickered continually during the hearing yesterday. He feels that he is on the winning side and that Mrs. Hazzard will have to repair his broken heart by returning the live stock and the farming things or their equivalent.

The fair defendant was put upon the witness stand. When counsel for the jilted agriculturist touched sentimentally upon the tender relations formerly existing between the plaintiff and the widow, the plaintiff burst into an uproarious guffaw. Mrs. Hazzard fixed and froze him with her eye, and he broke the guffaw off short and looked disconcerted.

She admitted that she wrote a letter asking him to visit her after dark. There are a hundred letters in which love and business and poetry and butter and sentiment and onions are inextricably mixed. Three of them were read.

The lady continually invited Mitchell to bring her hay and seed potatoes. She could not remember on what conditions they were obtained, but supposed the were ordinary business transactions. When asked if she paid for the articles in cash she said the receipts were in the hands of her counsel.

Through the whole hearing counsel for Mrs. Hazzard eloquently protested against the form and nature of the questions put to his client. He asserted that they shed no light on the sequestration of any property belonging to Mitchell, but were intended to harass his client and bring her to public shame for the benefit of the Newtown gossips.

Tommerson and Kroger Defeated.

Judge Wood refused Wednesday to grant the petition of R. E. Tommerson and John Kroger for a receiver for the Lindell Hotel and to enjoin Proprietors Brady and Donovan from conducting the place without the aid of the plaintiff. Tommerson and Kroger claimed to have been employed as managers under a contract at $3,000 a year and one-fifth of the profits.

Rage of a Jealous Negress.

Emma Henderson, colored, saw her lover, Robert Wilson, in the company of Lulu Edwards at 705 North Tenth street Wednesday night and in a jealous rage Emma fired four shots. Three bullets struck Wilson and one hit Lulu Edwards. Wilson is at the City Hospital in a serious condition. Lulu Edwards' wound was slight. Emma Henderson was arrested.

Another Warrant for Bornschein.

Fred Spahn, 904 Penrose street, swore out a warrant Thursday, charging Harry Bornschein with fraud. He alleges that Bornschein secured $150 from him, promising to secure him a situation on the Fire Department.

TURF CONGRESS TO MEET HERE.

Big Gathering of Racing Men in St. Louis Oct. 16.

MAY REINSTATE OUTLAWS.

Dan Honig Bought Nellie Smith, After She Beat Magnet in a Private Trial.

The Western Turf Congress will hold its next meeting in St. Louis Oct. 16, and until action is taken at this gathering the entries of the outlawed owners who have been reinstated by the Jockey Club of New York can not be accepted by any of the Turf Congress tracks. Several Alexander Island and St. Asaph owners recently reinstated by the Jockey Club were anxious to race at the Fair Grounds and Oakley. They made inquiry of Secretary Hopper of the Turf Congress and received the above information. It is generally believed that the Congress at its coming meeting will extend a general amnesty to the outlaws and give them one more chance. The meeting of the congress in this city will be one of the most important turf gatherings of the year. It will be attended by representatives of the leading Western race tracks. Every track in the West except East St. Louis, Madison, Sportsman's Park, Kansas City and Roby are members of the congress. On the day of the meeting St. Louis will be invaded by Col. Clarke, from Louisville; Ed Corrigan, Chicago; Frank Shaw, St. Paul; Bill Applegate, Alex Labold and E. C. Hopper, Cincinnati; W. O. Parmer and Van Kirkman, Nashville; George Arnold and J. H. Reese, Memphis; W. H. Schulte and C. F. Price, Louisville, and other prominent turfmen.

C. C. Maffitt of St. Louis is the present executive officer of the congress and he will preside over its coming deliberations.

JOCKEY CLUB STAKES.

Laveno Defeated None the Wiser for the Rich Event.

NEWMARKET, Sept. 26.—Although the weather to-day was blazing hot, the mercury in the thermometers rising above the eighty mark in the shade, there was a large and fashionable attendance at the races here to-day. Flannel suits and white umbrellas, which are not usually to be seen thus late in the season, dotted the paddock and stands. Lord Rosebery, whose two Derby winners, Ladas and Sir Visto, competed for the Jockey Club Stakes, the richest prize at the Newmarket first October meeting, was among the notable people present. The conditions of the race were as follows:

The Jockey Club Stakes of 10,000 sovereigns, the second horse to receive 500 sovereigns, the third horse 200 sovereigns, the nominator of the winner 400 sovereigns, and the nominator of the second horse 200 sovereigns out of the stakes; for 3 and 4-year-olds, winners of the Derby, St. Leger, Grand Prix de Paris or Newmarket stakes to carry 12 pounds extra, distance one and one-quarter miles.

Result: Mr. J. H. Houldsworth's bay colt, Laveno, 3-year-old, by Ben d'Or, out of Napoli, first; Lord Ellesmere's chestnut filly, None the Wiser, 4-year-old, by Wisdom, out of Corrie Roy, second; Mr. T. Cannon's chestnut filly, Venia, 3-years-old, by Melanio, out of Reine Blanche, third.

The betting was 9 to 4 on Laveno, 9 to 2 on None the Wiser, and 25 to 1 on Venia.

Results at the Tracks.

FAIR GROUNDS—The winners: Sundawn, Nellie Smith, Booze, Oregon Eclipse, Bill Ellison, George W. Bailey.

OAKLEY—The winners: Cecil, Balk Line, Ban Johnson, Maid Marian, Simon W., Semper Lex.

BRIGHTON BEACH—The winners: Old Dominion, Rosalind III., Nicolini Panway, Chattanooga, Little Mott.

The Extended Meeting.

Since the publication of the fact that the Fair Association would resume racing after the Fair Secretary Gwynn has received a number of applications for stable room from New York, Chicago and Kentucky.

Track Talk.

Maid Marian, with 117 pounds up, negotiated a mile in 1:40¾ at Oakley.

Johnny McCafferty thinks Applegate was the best 2-year-old shown in America this season.

Booze, with 107 up, made a mile in 1:41¼ at the Fair Grounds Wednesday.

Dan Carillo will give them all an argument in the 2-year-old stake race at Oakley.

J. E. Cushing's speedy mare Empera has gone lame and will be given a let-up until the meeting is resumed after Fair week.

Rancocas' legs look very bad, and he may break down at any time. Schorr does not care to ride him any more.

The first half mile in the last race Wednesday was run in :48 flat. Fra Diavolo, after getting off last was nosed out of third money.

Flying Dutchman, a brown colt by imp. Dutch Organ, captured the $1,000 Illinois Derby at Springfield Wednesday, covering one and one-half miles in 2:49¾. The winner is owned by William Arnett, of Sharon, Ill.

Governor Mattthews and Attorney-General Ketcham, of Indiana, are contemplating a move to suppress racing at the new Sheffield track, near Roby. The Governor thinks he can stop racing in Lake county under the gambling nuisance decision of the Supreme Court of Indiana.

Marble Rock collapsed completely when caught in the stretch by Oregon Eclipse. The judges questioned Cole and learned that Marble Rock will not stand the bat.

The Lethys have sold their old sprinter Oregon Eclipse to "Bone Docter" John Robbins, in whose colors he won Wednesday. Johnny Mooney rode Eclipse.

J. J. McCafferty and J. A. Murphy were among the visitors at the Fair Grounds Wednesday. Mr. McCafferty is on his way to California, while Murphy is here soliciting horses for the Sheffield track.

Jay Hardy and several other prominent owners at the Fair Grounds are getting up a petition to have the judges reconsider their suspension of Jockey Lee Turner. The latter's friends seem to think that the showing Cicely made Wednesday is a vindication for him.

Barney Schreiber's old enemy, Lewis Long, has entered suit against the St. Louis turfman at Cincinnati for $13,650, which he says Schreiber agreed to pay him for Jockey Felix Carr's services. Schreiber beat Long in a similar action at Memphis this spring.

SORRY THEY SPOKE.

Flushing (L. I.) Cyclists Worry the Police With Deep-Toned Bells.

Special to The Post-Dispatch.

FLUSHING, L. I., Sept. 26.—From the time the first bicyclist is astir in the morning until the last belated one retires at night this place is flooded with an incessant sound of tolling, pealing, clanging bells and gongs. It is the latest fad, and was introduced last week by the Bed Tick Wheel Club in order to satisfy the police, who had been expressing discontent with the insufficiency of the bicycle bells commonly in use. Bicycles are now running with clamor varying in volume and pitch from a fog bell to a deep-toned cathedral "rumbler."

And now the police are devoutly wishing that they had never spoken ill of the tiny tintinnabulations which were like the sighing of zephyrs compared to the tornado-like rumbling now rolling through the streets.

THE SOLDIERS' RACE.

Road Race of the McGrew Guards Cyclers This Afternoon.

This afternoon at 4 o'clock the McGrew Guards will hold their first road race in Forest Park, and the prospects are that one of the liveliest spurts over the course will be seen. The race will be but three laps, making about twelve miles, and will not be too long to tire the men out before they come to the final.

Capt. Nelson G. Edwards will be the limit man, and will give some of the younger element a rub to beat him.

WEST END ENTRIES.

The Blanks Were Hardly Issued Before Signatures Began Coming In.

Scarcely had the entry blanks for the West End Club's national meet, Oct. 5, been issued when they began to return with the signatures of the local racing men. Although the blanks were distributed only Wednesday morning ten entries were received at the club by the evening, and these include some of the fastest men in the city.

The cracks have not had time yet to receive the blanks, but as the meet is right in the line of travel of the circuit chosen they will all be here.

County Tour Officers.

The Associated Cycling Clubs met last night and selected the following officers for the St. Louis county tour October 6:

Grand Marshall, Robert Holm; aides, Charles Espenchied, Henry V. Lucas, E. N. Sanders, W. M. Butler, Bert Sarazin, W. P. Laing, M. R. Windhorst, Douglas W. Robert and Arthur Thursby; deputy marshals, Gus Loeffel, F. W. Braun, E. A. Wills, C. A. Stith, J. J. Rung, W. C. Heimbucher, Capt. U. G. Edwards, Wm. Lingenbrink, H. C. Alvord, W. A. Halin and Mark Leavenworth; pacemakers, M. J. Gilbert and C. C. Hildebrand; captain of unattached, H. C. Belding; lieutenants, Dave Funch and G. C. Oerters.

Sporting Notes.

O'Connor defeated Johnson in the professional bicycle race for a $1,000 purse at Sioux City, Io., Wednesday.

The prize fight test case has been taken to the Supreme Court, where it should be settled for once and all.

Bob Douglass of this city, a pupil of Jack Wilkes, wishes to arrange a match with "Dutch" Neil, either a limited round go or to a finish, for any sum up to $500 a side. He can be addressed in care of this office or of Jack Wilkes.

"Parson" Davies has suggested ex-Champion John L. Sullivan as a competent ring authority to referee the Corbett-Fitzsimmons fight.

The crew of the Valkyrie III. have returned to England, but Lord Dunraven has determined to leave the yacht this side of the Atlantic until next spring.

CHRIS' NEW PLAYER.

They Made a Favorable Impression on the Select Few.

Von der Ahe introduced two new players to a small and select crowd Wednesday, in the persons of Outfielder Atkinson and Pitcher Coleman, both Missouri boys. It is impossible to tell what they will turn out to be from one game, but they showed some strong points. Atkinson is a slightly built man and looks like a mere boy against the big fellows of the Browns, but he played a pretty fair game and should he develop into a good one he will be one of the most popular men in the League on account of his diminutiveness. He was credited with two hits and two put outs in his initial game. Coleman has great speed, but as yet lacks perfect command of the ball. He struck out five men, but that was more on account of the listless manner in which the Reds played, simply going to the bat expecting to be presented with first and not attempting to hit the ball. Coleman may settle down to good work after practice.

DIVIDED THE SPOILS.

Cincinnati Won and Lost to the Browns on Wednesday.

Cincinnati won the first and lost the second game with the Browns Wednesday, although the local team outplayed the Reds in both events. Chris' new pitcher, Coleman, was responsible for the first loss by virtue of giving seven men bases on balls. The scores:

Base Ball Notes.

Boston has made fifty-three home runs this season.

Sam Thompson now leads in home runs with eighteen to his credit.

The Pittsburgs won but eleven of thirty-six games played in the East this year.

The Bostons won forty-nine and lost eighteen games on the home grounds this year.

Selbach now leads Washington in batting. Up to last week McGuire was in first place.

Tebeau's Spiders will hardly beat out the Orioles now, but they can be relied upon to give them an argument in the Temple Cup series.

Brooklyn has played more errorless games than any other team in the League.

Frank Shugart has been fined $100 and indefinitely suspended by the Louisville management for insubordination.

Pittsburg and Brooklyn are fighting hard for sixth place. These two clubs lose at the same time and win at the same time, which keeps them a tie.

THE ROBES OF SOCIETY.

Scruggs, Vandervoort & Barney's Display of Evening Dress Goods.

In anticipation of the coming of the Veiled Prophet and the demand for superb, fresh and beautiful ball dresses, with which to honor his presence in our city, Scruggs, Vandervoort & Barney are making for the remainder of this week such a superb display of evening dress goods, novelties and garniture as has never been seen before outside of New York. The balcony has been transformed into an exquisite bower, brilliantly lighted, and here, arranged in the most attractive manner, may be found everything suitable for fashionable functions of every degree, luncheons, receptions, dinners and balls.

This is a luxurious age, and the keynote is given in the picturesque, as well as rich, effects in dress. This is strikingly shown in the silk and lace departments of this house, always noted for the tasteful selection of its goods, displayed even in the cheapest qualities. This will be better understood after a critical examination of the rich and exquisite things of which they are now making exposition. For gowns here are superb Damascus silks in the most exquisite shades and flowers, no two alike, and the combination of color tones most daring, yet dainty and effective. Many lovely new shades are introduced, Aurora pink being one of the most effective. This is strikingly shown in satin-striped chiffon, a beautiful fabric for young girls. Then there are white satins and brocades, and the silver grays and black so becoming to matrons.

One of the special features of the season is the silk designed for waist lengths—fine novelty silks in brocade and Persian effects, only one pattern of each. These are to be worn with plain skirts of satin or brocade, and will make most effective toilets for receptions and dinner. Chamelion silks showing as many as four shades are desirable for these waists or even a full gown. Another novelty for waists is shown in the gold and black striped or white and silver chiffon of black chiffon spangled with iridescent colors.

The garniture of this season is richer than ever before, and more lavishly used. The effects are dainty, even in the Persian colors, where gold and pearls are combined with every known hue. Laces will be much worn, both real laces and novelties, but they come chiefly in bands, and will be used upon the waists. Embroidered chiffons will be extensively used upon waists.

In neckwear there are some beautiful things exhibited. Chiffon boas or collarettes and velvet or silk lace trimmed or jetted or finished with Persian passementerie. For the opera or ball there are dainty little capes, trimmed with marabout and hood of swansdown with collarette capes. No description can do these things justice. The display is a picture which you must see.

SONNENFELD'S---419-421 N. BROADWAY, 506-508 ST. CHARLES---SONNENFELD'S

SURPRISED A BURGLAR.

Alice Turner Gives John Miles a Series of Shivers.

Alice Turner, keeper of a disreputable house on South Twenty-first street, about 7 a. m. Thursday found a negro in her room trying to open a safe which contained all the woman's diamonds, valued at $1,800. She recognized him as John Miles, a colored porter in Jim Cronin's saloon, at Twenty-first and Market street.

"There's no use taking those diamonds," she said coolly. "I know you and will get them back."

The intruder had been so busy trying to open the safe that he had not noticed the woman sitting up in bed. When she addressed him he jumped almost to the ceiling and rushed out of the room, tumbling downstairs and disappeared. The Turner woman immediately notified Officers Barris and Harlow, who arrested Miles. Entrance had been effected by forcing the shutter of a rear window.

In Miles the police think they have the fellow who has been making wholesale raids on the jewelry belonging to women living in the neighborhood of Twenty-first and Market streets. Last month a burglar stole about $700 worth of jewelry from Alice Turner, and the police are trying to connect Miles with this theft. Cronin claims the negro was on duty in his saloon up to the time of his arrest and consequently could not have committed the burglary.

Failed to Get His Office.

MADISON, Wis., Sept. 26.—Rev. Charles S. Starkweather, ex-Mayor of Superior, recently ousted from office by the Common Council of that city for irregularities, has failed to get back into office through the medium of the Supreme Court. He appealed from the Council's action, bringing the case to the Supreme Court on a writ of certiorari, argued at the last session. The court to-day affirmed the Council's proceedings and order of removal.

Investigating Labor Troubles.

T. B. McGuire, of New York, a member of the Executive Committee of the Knights of Labor, is here investigating troubles among the marble workers and the members of the Theatrical Brotherhood. The latter have been organized as a K. of L. assembly and Mr. McGuire says charges have been made against them by the Federation of Labor.

STIRRED UP EXCITEMENT.

Faction Troubles in the First Methodist Church Again Arising.

At the close of the prayer meeting at the First Methodist Church Wednesday night Rev. A. J. Jarrell announced that five of the stewards of the church had been reduced to the ranks and that fifty members had been stricken from the church rolls at the last meeting of the trustees.

Then pandemonium broke loose.

For a few minutes every one wanted to talk, the confusion echoing out to the pedestrians on the quiet street.

Rev. Mr. Jarrell was given an opportunity to explain. He said the names of the members had been stricken off the roll because they moved to other districts; were not attending regularly or were recognized as members of other Methodist churches.

It has been rumored ever since the trustees met that a change had been made among the stewards. When this became officially known Wednesday evening there was no end to the stir. S. E. Gergon, J. S. Gannon, E. B. Brown, Attorney John Robinson and a Mr. Cook were the stewards invited to step out. Rev. Mr. Jarrell offered no explanation, and none was asked. He simply announced that the remaining eight stewards, Dan Heltzell, George Ansley, W. E. Lafferty, — Doyle, E. Laramour, E. P. McCurdy, E. R. Allen and W. G. Evans, would suffice to attend to the affairs of the church.

JACKSON, Mo., Sept. 26.—The forty-eighth session of the St. Louis Conference of the M. E. Church South is now here in session, with Bishop E. B. Galloway of Mississippi in the chair, and E. B. Chappel, Secretary. The meeting was organized yesterday and after routine work adjourned to to-day, as not all of the members had arrived yesterday.

The morning sesion to-day was taken up in examination of ministers, hearing their reports and passing on their character. The case of Rev. J. L. Batten, who was arrested on charges of Presiding Elder Moore of Charleston District, was referred to a committee. Interest of the publishing house is reported in a flourishing condition. The afternoon and evening were devoted to sermons in different churches. About 200 ministers and delegates are attending, among them Dr. Palmer and Postmaster Carlisle of St. Louis and Dr. Taggart of Nashville, Tenn.

NOT THE "MISSING LINK."

Bones of a Pet Monkey Found by Prof. J. L. Wortman.

DENVER, Colo., Sept. 26.—A special to the Times from Rock Springs, Wyo., says:

The bones found by Prof. J. L. Wortman of Columbia College, N. Y., near the head of historic Bitter Creek, and pronounced by him the "missing link," were the skeleton of a pet monkey owned by cow boys which died about twelve years ago.

The Majestic steel range is opening people's eyes to how pleasantly and economically housekeeping can be done.

COTTOLENE COOKS

Should remember to use only two-thirds as much Cottolene as they formerly used of lard or butter. With two-thirds the quantity they will get better results at less cost than it is possible to get with lard or butter. When Cottolene is used for frying articles that are to be immersed, a bit of bread should be dropped into it to ascertain if it is at the right heat. When the bread browns in half a minute the Cottolene is ready. Never let Cottolene get hot enough to smoke.

THREE IMPORTANT POINTS: The frying pan should be cold when the Cottolene is put in. Cottolene heats to the cooking point sooner than lard. It never spatters when hot.

The Cottolene trade-marks are "Cottolene" and a steer's head in cotton-plant wreath.

PAINE'S CELERY COMPOUND.

An Absolute Cure for the Worst Cases of Rheumatism.

The Plain Language of Mr. Oscar Pike—The Greatest of All Remedies Accomplished His Cure After Many Months of Weakness and Suffering—No Tedious Waiting for Improvement.

Paine's celery compound is the one known specific for the cure of rheumatism.

And it does not need a tedious trial to prove it.

The effect of this best of remedies is straightway felt.

Not a week goes by before the pains of rheumatism diminish.

Thousands of men and women have told of the days and nights of pain and feebleness exchanged in a few weeks for activity and strength.

Paine's celery compound has won the reputation of being the remedy "that makes people well." Its good works extend from Oregon to Maine. In every State in the Union there has been piled up in the newspapers and medical journals a tremendous amount of indisputable evidence of the curative power of Paine's celery compound over all forms of nervous debility and diseases of the blood. It cures after nature's plan, by affording nutrition for every part of the body, overhauling the worn-out tissues, and supplying new brain and nerve material, sending pure blood through the veins, invigorating the whole system, and removing the cause of disease.

Mr. Oscar Pike, a well-known resident of Princeton, Maine, recently sent the following unsolicited letter to the proprietors of this wonderful remedy:

"Two years ago I was taken sick with what the doctors called grip. I was improving when I took on a violent cold and chill. Then rheumatism set in, first in the joints of my shoulders, then down my hands and arms, then all over. Feet, hands and legs swelled. I could not put my hand to my head; could not throw the clothes off from me; could not dress or undress myself, nor get out of my chair without help. For a year and a half I tried all kinds of medicines and sarsaparillas, with little or no relief. I was 78 years old. Some one told me to try Paine's celery compound. After I had taken three bottles I found a marked improvement. I have now taken twelve bottles, and the result is I eat and sleep well, do my own work, and go about as usual, getting in and out of my carriage without help. I have been tempted to put an article in the local paper for the benefit of those that are afflicted as I have been."

Mr. Pike is well known in his locality. He is the founder and President of the North Washington Agricultural Society and Trotting Association. When he goes for his mail, he says, people ask him what he has been doing that he is improving so of late, and no answers as do thousands of others throughout the country—

"Paine's celery compound has made me well!"

The reason why no other piano house can compete with our low prices and why we can save you from $60 to $75 on any grade of piano you wish to buy for cash or on easy payments, and why it is to your interest to call on us, is as follows: We pay no rent, as we occupy our own building, and have little expense; we take no pianos on consignments, but buy exclusively for spot cash; we are practical piano makers, therefore know what we are buying; we have been established since 1870, and have found that honesty and fair dealing pays. We have on hand a number of high-grade upright pianos, slightly used, from $125 to $275. Koerber Piano Co., 1108 Olive st.

THE MARKETS.

ST. LOUIS, Sept. 26.

Cincinnati Price Current says: Corn crop secure. Drought delaying wheat seeding and in various regions cutting pastures short, necessitating feeding stock. Continued restricted offerings in winter grain States. Low prices retarding movement of oats.

Yesterday exporters took 232,000 bu wheat at New York and 96,000 bu at outports, and 90,000 bu corn at all Atlantic seaboard markets.

The Manitoban wheat crop is reported to have been materially reduced in quality and to some extent in quantity by late unfavorable weather, principal cause of damage being frost.

Except some of the winter wheat that is unfit for anything but feeding, it is hardly likely that much wheat will be fed to live stock this season, so much higher is wheat than corn and so much cheaper is everything in the shape of feed than last year.

Geo. H. Plant, the well-known miller, has returned from an extended tour of Europe.

WHEAT.

The only prominent feature of the market this morning was its extreme dullness. This, however, was hardly to be wondered at, as there was not a bit of news to influence local speculation and outside orders were only notable for their absence. The foreign markets were dull and Liverpool ⅛d lower, but this was largely the result of yesterday's break on this side and was not unexpected. The question of spring wheat receipts was a good deal disturbed by the fire in the Minneapolis Chamber of Commerce, which held that market's figures off for some time. Later Northwestern car lots were reported as 1,016 cars, against 950 one year ago. Winter wheat arrivals continued small to moderate, but locally still ahead of last year (7,000 bu) through receipts of hard winter and spring. The Cincinnati Price Current was rather bullish, but it only told what everyone in the trade knew.

The clearances were smaller and late cables generally lower, but domestic markets turned strong and advanced on the weather delaying seeding. Shorts became alarmed and their purchasers put prices up smartly.

SPOT GRADES—A quiet market on all, but firm, though No. 2 red did sell 4c lower. No. 2 red sold in Farmers at 60½c and E side at 61⅜c; bid. 60½c for St. Louis and Central, 60⅞c for Terminal. No. 3 red sold in Farmers' at 58⅞c; for regular 58½c bid and for E side 59c. No. 4 winter sold in Farmers' and St. Louis lots at 56c, and later 56¼c bid for Farmers', Terminal and E side. Rejected offered at 49c, bid 47c for East, 50c for Terminal. No grade had 25c bid. No. 2 hard winter sold in Farmers' at 59½c; offered regular at 58⅞c, bid 58⅝c for United, 58⅞c for E side, 59c for Terminal. No. 2 spring offered regular at 59c, bid 57⅞c.

CORN.

If speculation in wheat was so extremely dull, it was almost dead in corn during most of the session. Not an unfavorable chirp was heard against the crop, even the Cincinnati Price Current, which has been trying to bluff the trade into the belief that the crop was falling short, coming out with a statement that the crop was secure. And the weather was simply perfect. Receipts were small at most Western markets and at Chicago the 499 cars in were 110 cars below estimates, but the dullness in cash more than offset this. Liverpool quoted ¼d decline and clearances were small—from four ports being 88,000 bu.

Some strength developed in September and the advance in wheat firmed the whole market late in the day.

Spot grades—Higher and a better market all around. Speculative buyers were after grades that could be delivered on September contracts and paid 27½c for No. 2 and 27⅝c for No. 2 white regular. Lower grades dead dull. No. 3 white offered this side at 27c, no bid. No. 3 east side at 26c, bid 23c regular. No. 4 east side at 25c, no bid.

OATS.

The future market was easier and dull.

Spot grades steady. No. 2 offered regular at 18¼c, bid 18c, and for Terminal and E. side 18¼c bid. No. 3 sold in Farmers' at 16½c, that bid Terminal and E. side, 16¼c for United. No. 4 not offered; bid 14½c for United, 15c for Farmers', 15¼c for Terminal. For no-grade in United 13c bid. No. 3 white offered regular at 19c, bid 17⅞c, and 18c bid for Farmers', 18½c for E. side, 20c for Terminal.

HAY.

Received, 970 tons; shipped, 181 tons. Under pressure of the urgent demand, together with the scarcity of choice timothy, prices are stiffening up and buyers may be compelled to pay an advance ere long to secure supplies. Choice grades found ready sale at from $13.50 to $14.50. East track—There were no sales of choice prairie, as little or none of this on the market. Clover firm. Straw, when sound and bright, is in demand.

Sales, track and warehouse, this side—1 car packing at $4, 8 No. 3 at $5, 1 No. 2 at $6, 1 No. 1 (Kansas) at $7, 1 No. 1 at $7.75. Clover—1 car choice at $10.50. Mixed—1 car at $10. Timothy—1 car low-grade at $9, 1 overripe and bleached and 1 No. 2 at $10, 1 No. 2 at $10.50, 1 do at $12, 2 No. 1 at $12.50, 3 do at $13, 1 choice (large baled) at $14.

East Side: Timothy—2 cars No. 2 at $11, 1 do at $11.50, 1 No. 1 at $12.50, 1 do at $13, 2 choice at $13.50, 2 do at $14, 2 do at $14.25, 1 do at $14.50.

NEW YORK, Sept. 26.—The initial prices of stocks were as a rule slightly above the final transactions of yesterday, with the gains most pronounced in the industrial shares. Large blocks of Distilling changed hands at from 23¼ to 23⅝. Quotation at 10:15 recorded an appreciation in Chicago Gas of ⅛ and Sugar and Tobacco ⅛ per cent.

Free offerings of Distilling depressed the price to 22⅝, a net loss of 1⅜. The general market also reacted, Chicago Gas in the van, with a recession of ⅝. Speculation at 11 a. m. was dull and weak.

The coalers loomed into prominence after 11 a. m., reflecting the advancing tendency of coal prices. On good buying Reading improved ¾ per cent. The purchases of other stocks of the group were less extensive, but higher prices prevailed, except for Lackawanna, which reacted a fraction. Delaware and Hudson rose 1⅛; New Jersey Central 1¼, and Susquehanna and Western preferred 1 per cent. The strength of these stocks imparted a firmer tone to the general market, and recoveries were noted extending to 1⅜ per cent in Tobacco. Speculation at 12 o'clock was strong in tone. The sales to noon were 137,000 shares, including 123,000 listed and 14,000 unlisted.

DICK'S LUCKY FIND.

The Boy That "Wasn't No Use," Yet Saved the Old Home.

"He'll be a power of trouble an' a heap of expense, Mandy, an' he won't be worth nothin' to us."

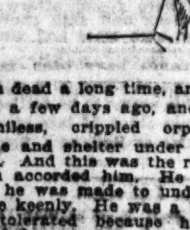

"Yes, that's so, Hiram, but I don't know what we're to do about it. It works a great hardship on us to keep him, but I don't jest see how we kin turn him away. It would make people talk awful if we refused a home to our own orphan grandchild, wouldn't it?"

"Yes, it would," Hiram replied angrily. "People always have to talk 'bout other folks' business an' mix in things that don't concern 'em. I s'pose," he went on, with a sigh, after a short pause, "that we'll have to keep him whether we ought to or not, though his keepin' is goin' to be a big expense to us."

"An' jest at a time when we can't afford no extra expense, neither," 'Manda added. "That mortgage on the farm is comin' due in a year, an' we'll need to save every cent we kin to meet it."

"That's so," Hiram observed, as he arose and stumped thoughtfully back and forth across the floor. "It would 'a' crowded us to pay off that mortgage at best, an' with this added expense I don't know what we kin do. I can't see what people want of children when they have to leave 'em to be a burden on other folks. If this boy wasn't a cripple, now, he might half-way earn his livin', but bein' a cripple, as he is, he'll be a plumb dead expense."

It was at the breakfast table in old Hiram Mastin's farm-house that this conversation took place. The subject of it, little Dick Mastin, sat at the table listening with a heavy heart to it all. His father had been dead a long time, and his mother had died a few days ago, and he had come, a penniless, crippled orphan, seeking a home and shelter under his grandfather's roof. And this was the reception that had been accorded him. He was not wanted, and he was made to understand that fact quite keenly. He was a burden that must be tolerated because he could not be avoided.

"What air you a-cryin' for, I'd like to know?"

"Cause," Dick sobbed, "I don't want to be a burden."

"Oh! Well, you air one, anyway, an' cryin' about it don't mend the matter none, as I kin see."

"I wish you an' Granpa wouldn't talk like you do," Dick continued, "'cause I don't want to be in the way, an' I wish I hadn't come."

"Well, did I ever!" Mrs. Martin exclaimed. "Why, child, ain't every word we said true?"

"Yes'm, but I don't want to be an expense to you an' keep you from payin' off the mortgage."

"Well, whether you want to be or not, you air, jest the same, an' there's no use of you bein' so touchy about what we say about it. If your father an' mother hadn't been so shiftless you wouldn't need to come back on us for a support. They could 'a' left you somethin'."

"Father's been dead a long time an' mother's been sick for years," the boy remonstrated meekly.

"More shiftless than sick," Mrs. Martin grumbled. "I know them town folks, an' I know how scared they air of soilin' their hands. But there, we won't say no more about it, for what's the use o' talkin' about what can't be helped? You're here, an' we've got to take keer of you, no matter how unhandy it comes, nor how much the expense is, nor if we lose the farm into the bargain, which we're most sure to do."

"I'll help all I can, grandma," Dick said, between sobs. "I'll work"—

"You'll do a precious lot o' helpin'," Mrs. Mastin sniffed in disdain. "You can't earn the salt that goes in your bread."

Mrs. Mastin began to clear away the table and Dick left the room and stole out behind the house, where he threw himself down on the grass and gave full vent to his grief.

He was sensitive—acutely so—as all persons with physical defects are apt to be. He felt his inability to be useful, and for that reason the harsh words of his grandparents cut him deeply. At first he thought of going away, but when he recalled his well nigh helpless condition he dismissed that idea from his mind. He had had enough experience with the world to know that he could scarcely hope to better his condition anywhere else.

"I'll have to stay," he said to himself, "but I'll do all I can to help. I won't be no more of a burden than possible an' I'll work all I can."

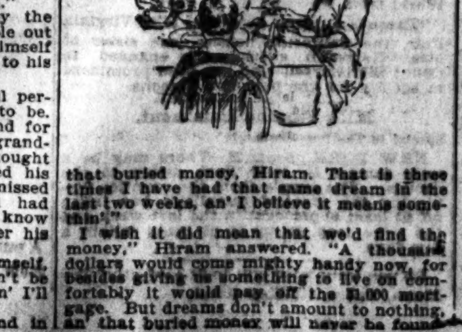

[He kept] his resolution, and in the days that followed he showed an eagerness to be of use, working industriously and always being ready to do whatever duty was assigned him. More than that, he suggested things to do and watched for opportunities to relieve one or the other of his grandparents of burdens.

He was so willing to be of service and tried so hard to earn his living that the old folks must have felt more kindly toward him had they not been thoroughly selfish and completely wrapped up in their own interests.

He longed often for a kind word from them or a word of commendation showing that his efforts were appreciated, but he longed in vain. If they took any notice of what he did at all it was only to find fault with the manner in which it was done or to chide him for not doing more.

Six months had passed since Dick's advent into Hiram Mastin's house. The two old people and the boy were at the breakfast table one morning, when suddenly Mrs. Mastin said:

"I dreamed last night that we found that buried money, Hiram. That is three times I have had that same dream in the last two weeks, an' I believe it means somethin'."

"I wish it did mean that we'd find the money," Hiram answered. "A thousand dollars would come mighty handy now, for besides giving us something to live on comfortably it would pay off the $1,000 mortgage. But dreams don't amount to nothing, an' that buried money will never be found. It's been searched for all over the garden, and if it was there it would 'a' been found before this. I guess father was mistaken about where he put it."

Mrs. Mastin sighed, but remained silent. Mr. Mastin got up and went out about his work. Dick stole away to an isolated spot, where he sat down and studied long and hard about what he had heard. It was the first intimation that he had received that $1,000 was buried somewhere about the place.

"If I could only find it," he said to himself, "I would be helping grandfather a heap, and maybe," he added, "they would love me a little. Anyhow, I'll try."

Dick immediately set to work to carry out his resolution, and for a week he dug and burrowed in the garden. Every spare moment he had he spent in searching for the lost money. He worked assiduously and earnestly, hoping for nothing for himself save perhaps a kind word should his search be successful.

When he had searched for a week Hiram noticed what he was doing and ordered him to stop.

"It's not likely you'll find that money," he said, "when I hev searched the place over time an' ag'in to no avail."

Dick had to cease his digging, but he was not convinced that the money could not be found. He believed firmly that if his grandfather had let him go on he should have dug it up before many more days.

Dick was anxious to do something to earn some money to help pay off the mortgage, so when spring came he asked for the privilege of cultivating a small corner of the garden in lettuce and radishes. He had inquired and found that early vegetables would sell very readily at the houses in the little town two miles away.

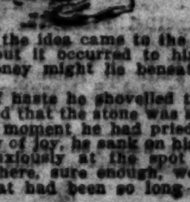

Hiram grumbled a good bit about giving the boy the ground, but as it was a corner that was never used and as there was a probability of a few dollars coming in from the vegetables, he finally consented.

Dick at once began work spading up the ground, preparatory to planting the seeds for his early garden. He could only work at it a few minutes at a time, for Mrs. Mastin kept him on errands of one kind and another almost continuously. However, at last, one night after supper, he worked a whole hour uninterruptedly, and he worked so industriously that he almost completed the spading. He was still working away when Hiram came out and ordered him to stop.

"I guess you can't have no garden there," he said. "'Mandy complains that she can't git nothin' out of you 'thout everlastin' diggin' at you, cause you are so set on diggin' away here. So I reckon you kin jest quit off."

Hiram went back to the house, and Dick stood looking at the ground, all his hopes dashed to pieces and his dreams of helping to earn money swept away. With a feeling of bitterness, half of anger and half of sorrow, he thrust the spade deep into the ground, resolved to leave it there and go away to seek a home some other place.

As he thrust the spade down it struck a stone. How the idea came to the boy he never knew, but it occurred to him that the buried money might lie beneath that stone.

In a fever of haste he shovelled the dirt away and found that the stone was a large, flat one. In a moment he had pried it up, and, with a cry of joy, he sank on his knees and peered anxiously at the spot where it had lain. There, sure enough, were the gold pieces that had been so long sought for.

He gathered them up and put them in his hat. There were just fifty of them. Then, with a fast-beating heart and a radiant face he started for the house. At the door he heard his grandfather say: "We can't meet the mortgage, and the place will have to go, and it all comes of the extra expense of that boy."

"He's no use to us," Mrs. Mastin replied, "and—oh, my laws!"

Dick had entered and turned the gold pieces in Mrs. Mastin's lap, calling forth the exclamation. For an instant both old people were dumb with astonishment, but at last Hiram gasped:

"What does it mean?"

"The buried money! I found it!" Dick replied, almost too much excited to talk.

"You found it!" Hiram exclaimed, incredulously. "Where?"

"Under a flat rock in the corner of the garden, where I was digging."

"Under that rock?" Hiram said, rising and stumping back and forth across the floor. "Why, I've dug down to and all around that rock a dozen time, but I never thought to look under it, and I never should."

There followed a long silence, after which Dick said, timidly:

"You won't have to give up the farm now, will you?"

"No; it's saved," Hiram replied gleefully. "Thank the Lord for that."

"I'm glad," Dick continued, "'cause I didn't want you to lose it on account of me being here."

There was another long silence, then suddenly Mrs. Mastin got up, and going to Dick, threw her arms about him, and, drawing him close to her breast, kissed him. There were tears running down her cheeks and her voice was unsteady as she said:

"Poor child, we have made your life a misery all along without noticing it, but from this on you are as welcome here as either of us, and you'll never have another unkind word from me."

"Nor me, either," Hiram said, as he patted Dick affectionately on the head. "I ain't treated you right, but from this on I'll try to make amends. You've saved the old home and you're to feel welcome in it, an' when we're gone it'll be yours."

Dick was too happy to speak. He had gained words of commendation and had won a place in the hearts of his grandparents and he could ask no more.—Chicago News.

He was arrested and the satchel was found to contain over $500,000 in deposit certificates, stocks and money. He was released on a writ of habeas corpus and fled. Sheriff Wolsey is now satisfied he was Kimball.

WHICH MASTER?

Pertinent Question to Wabash Employes at Springfield.

PEORIA, Ill., Sept. 26.—A locomotive engineer visiting Peoria, says at Springfield, Ill., the Master Mechanic of the Wabash caused subordinate officials to inquire among men whether they preferred to work for the railroad or for their organization, and hints were thrown out that they had better decide which master they would serve. So far as the engineer knew, no one had yet been discharged on account of membership in any organization. There are few members of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen employed by the Wabash, they having been pretty well cleaned out by the A. R. U. strike, in which they joined as individuals, although the Brotherhood did not sanction it.

TWO PERISHED.

Burning of the Excursion Steamer Macatawa at Chicago.

CHICAGO, Ill., Sept. 26.—The excursion steamer Macatawa was burned to the water's edge at 2:15 o'clock this morning and two members of its crew are supposed to have perished in the flames. They are: Barney McGonigle, engineer; unknown man, deck hand.

The fire broke out in a lumber yard, which is on the north side of slip E, South Pier. The flames, fanned by a lively breeze from the lake, swept across the slip and in a few moments the Macatawa was in flames. Capt. Napier and his men were sleeping when the boat took fire. Napier was in his cabin and was awakened by the smoke, which poured out and filled his quarters, almost suffocating him. He tried to get below decks to warn his crew, but the flames drove him back and he had to jump to the dock to save his life.

When Capt. Napier came ashore he said he did not think it possible the engineer and deck hand had saved themselves. The fact that the men were not to be found on the pier was regarded as conclusive evidence they were dead, as otherwise they would have come to the assistance of the captain, when he was trying to save his boat.

GEN. JOSE MACEO.

A Letter in Which He Describes the Battle of San Diel Indio.

Special Cable to the Post-Dispatch.
(Copyright, 1893, by the Press Pub. Co.)

HAVANA, Sept. 26.—The Spanish newspapers here are again giving accounts of Gen. Jose Maceo's death. He is known to be suffering from rheumatism, which prevents him from riding on horse-back, but letters have been received from him written two days after the battle of San Diel Indio, in which he says his health is rapidly improving.

In one of his letters Jose says the Spaniards had about 200 men killed and wounded at the battle of San Diel Indio, and when they were retreating were met by some of Antonio Maceo's cavalry, who had set a dynamite mine in the road where they had to pass. The mine worked marvelously well, exterminating about 170 men. Over an area of fifteen miles pieces of human bodies were found afterwards, whilst shreds of flesh and skin could be seen hanging from high trees and vines.

The styles in canes have been rather varied of late. A bit of silver on a stick is again the thing; this seems to be settled for the season. A large stock of late ideas in canes and umbrellas at Bolland's, Seventh and Locust.
